

Miscue Analysis
Grandma's Garden
by Beverly DeVries

Level 2.2
275 words

Jameson

	Substitution	Mispronunciation	Insertion	Omission	Repeats	Self Corrections	Syntax Unacceptable	Meaning Disrupted
^{Megan SC} "Megan, today we are going to Grandma's house. She ^{was} wants us to help her pick vegetables in the garden."
"Goodie! I love to visit Grandma and help her in her garden. She has such beautiful flowers." When they got to Grandma's house, she was standing on the porch, ^{Megan} waving to them. Megan went running to Grandma and gave her a big hug. "We are here to help you pick vegetables, Grandma." "Super! I need help picking ^{the} beans and peas. Here is ^{the} a basket for you, one for your mom, ^{you SC} and one for me. And here is a sun hat for you, one for your mom, and one for me. I do not want you to get a sun burn." In ^{Grandma SC} the garden, they began to pick her beans.
^{Megan} Megan filled her basket first. Grandma gave her another basket. "Now you can fill ^{this} one with peas," Grandma ^{Enough to SC} said. After all the baskets were filled, Grandma said,
"Now let's see if the carrots are big enough to pick."
^{Megan} Grandma took Megan to the row of carrots. "Here they

	Substitution	Mispronunciation	Insertion	Omission	Repeats	Self Corrections	Syntax Unacceptable	Meaning Disrupted
are," Grandma announced . "I don't see any carrots," ^{said} Megan said. "You cannot see them, but watch." Grandma ^{which} took a bunch of green tops and pulled straight up.
"Wow!" said ^{Megan} Megan. "That is magic! May I eat this big carrot?" "Of course, but first help me pick two more:
one for your mom and one for me. Then we will wash them and enjoy them," Grandma said. And that is just what they did. They washed the carrots and went to sit in the porch swing to eat their big, fat carrot.

total 25 errors - 6 self correct = 19 errors
 6 errors disrupt meaning

When Jameson does not know a word, he omits it.
 Some of these disrupt meaning.

He mispronounced "Megan," but was consistent.
 Since it's a name, it does not disrupt meaning.