KAPLAN INTERNATIONAL PATHWAYS

A first-rate US education

Ranked among the top 15 small universities worldwide (Times Higher Education 2016), The University of Tulsa (TU) prepares its students for a lifetime of success. With over 60 bachelor's degrees, plus subject minors and certificates across a range of fields, you can customize your studies for your interests and career goals.

The 200-acre campus is located close to downtown Tulsa, a stylish mid-sized city in Oklahoma. International students will feel especially welcome at TU, where nearly 25% of students come from outside the USA.

TU's small classes ensure that you receive plenty of attention and support during your degree. Faculty and staff will also become your trusted advisors and mentors.

The University has also invested US $350 million in brand new facilities for research and recreation, with the latest labs and equipment for a wide range of subjects. You will find lots of opportunities to gain valuable hands-on experience at TU.

Direct entry to a variety of bachelor's degrees

International students can apply to any of TU's 60+ bachelor's degrees. No SAT/ACT test scores are required, and Art & Design students don't need to submit a portfolio.

If your English scores don't qualify you for direct entry, you may be conditionally admitted to the University through one of the following on-campus programs, depending on your English language level:

- Pathway to Academics
Strengthen your fluency in spoken and written English while also earning college credits in math and college writing.
- Intensive English
Build your skills in reading, writing, grammar, listening and speaking in 1 to 5 levels, each lasting 8 weeks. All levels of English are considered, including beginner.

Admission to your degree at TU is guaranteed when you successfully complete your Pathway to Academics or Intensive English Program at the required level. Contact your Kaplan representative, or visit kaplanpathways.partners/tulsa to find out more.
