Apply for your student visa

After you have accepted your offer to study with International Pathways at Northeastern, and have submitted the necessary financial documents, you will be sent a visa eligibility document (Form I-20). You will need the I-20 to apply for your US study visa.

Students who present a valid I-20 at a US port of entry must attend the university named on that certificate of eligibility. You should not enter the United States on a B-2 tourist visa, as it may be impossible to change it to F-1 student visa status at a later date. Here are the steps to apply for your US study visa:

Step 1: When you have your I-20 form in hand, pay the I-901 SEVIS fee and print a copy for your receipt.

Step 2: Locate the US consulate or embassy nearest to you and schedule an appointment for an interview. Interviews can be scheduled as early as 120 days prior to the start date on your I-20 form. We recommend making an appointment early, as dates can fill up quickly and visas may take up to several weeks to process, depending on where you live.

Step 3: Prepare the following documents to bring to your interview:

- Valid passport: If your passport will expire less than 6 months after your planned arrival in the United States, if it is damaged, or if you do not have an empty page available for your visa, you will need to obtain a new passport before your interview.
- Passports containing all previous US visas, even if expired.
- DS–160 application form confirmation page: Include the telecodes for your name, home address and company name written in your native language (if applicable) on the form. Please set page layout to “portrait” when printing out your confirmation page. Bring the printed (not faxed) confirmation page to your interview.
- Original bank receipt for DS–160 application fee: Glue or tape the application fee receipt onto the bottom of the DS–160 form confirmation page.
- Photograph: Affix one square (51mm x 51mm) color photograph of yourself (head and shoulders) with clear tape to your passport. You should face the camera directly and stand in front of a white background for your photo. It should be less than 6 months old.
- Completed SEVIS form: Must be completed and signed by you and the University’s Designated School Official (DSO). The name on the form must exactly match the name in your passport and be entered into the SEVIS system by your US academic institution. For more information, see ice.gov/sevis/students.
- SEVIS fee receipt: Bring a copy of your I-901 or I-797 receipt to the interview. For more information, see fmjfee.com/i901fee.
- Proof of ties to your home country: Documentation proving economic, social, family or other commitments that will help demonstrate your intent to return to your home country after your studies in the US. Examples include local bank account statements, home ownership paperwork or proof of employment.
- Proof of finances: A recent bank statement or scholarship letter showing no less than the minimum funds required in Northeastern’s Declaration of Finances form.
- Research/study plan: Detailed information about your planned studies or research in the US, including the name and email address of your advising professor and/or the head of your department in the US. Email neu.pathways@kaplan.com to obtain this information.
- Résumé/CV: Detailed information about your past academic and professional experience, including a complete list of all publications to which you have contributed (if applicable).
- Official transcripts of returning students: If you have returned to your home country after study in the USA and need to apply for a new visa, you must submit your official US university transcripts with your application.

Step 4: Prepare for your interview. Your visa interview will likely be brief, and you will be asked to discuss:

- why you wish to study at Northeastern University
- your pathway program, if applicable
- your future degree program
- what you plan to do after you graduate

There is no need to be nervous about this interview, but it helps to be prepared to answer these and other questions concisely.

Book your student housing

Live in International Guest House (IGH), our most popular accommodation option. It is located in Boston’s historic Back Bay neighborhood, close to campus, the city center and lots of great shops and restaurants. We arrange housing at IGH by semester at a discounted rate. You’ll live with other international students in a safe, residence hall-like environment, with daily breakfast and dinner.

Pathways also offers a limited number of other housing options such as shared apartments. You can request student accommodations by filling out and submitting the Housing Preference form included in your acceptance package.

To learn more about your housing options, download the International Pathways at Northeastern housing guide (see link on the back cover).

Airport transfer

We can pick you up from Boston Logan International Airport and transfer you to your student accommodation for a fee. You can request this service on your Housing Preference Form. Go to page 7 to learn more.
Pack your bags

Your flight is booked and you have your study visa in hand. Here are some things you’ll want to prepare before you depart for Boston.

Baggage insurance and weight limits
When you book your flight to the USA, we recommend you purchase travel insurance in case your bags are lost or damaged on the journey to Boston.

You should also check with your airline regarding baggage weight and size limits, as well as restrictions on what you can carry with you onto the airplane.

Clothing
The weather in Massachusetts varies dramatically from season to season (see page 11 for details). For an academic year in Boston, you’ll want to prepare three types of clothing:
- light-weight for the summer heat
- raincoats or medium-weight coats for chilly fall and early spring days
- very warm, lined coats; waterproof boots; gloves and hats for cold and wet winter weather

You can also easily purchase any clothing or supplies you need after you’ve arrived, and we are happy to provide recommendations on the best places to shop.

Electronics
US electricity is set to 110 Volts and 60 cycles. If you come from a country where 220/240 Volts is the standard, you may need a converter that changes the voltage to use with small appliances, such as hair dryers and curling irons. In many cases, it will be cheaper to purchase new personal appliances after your arrival in Boston. Computers and tablets charge often support dual voltages, but may require a plug adaptor to fit US electrical outlets.

Money
Before you depart your home country, you’ll need to make sure you can cover your immediate personal expenses after your arrival in Boston. You will learn how to open a US bank account during the Arrival program (see page 8).

Initial expenses
The amount you need to bring will depend on your personal spending habits. To cover your expenses during your first few weeks in Boston, we recommend that you bring:
- $500–$750 in traveler’s checks, plus
- $500 in cash

Traveler’s checks
Traveler’s checks are safer to carry than large amounts of cash and can be cashed at airports, exchange bureaus and most banks. Purchase traveler’s checks before you leave your home country. Record the serial numbers of your traveler’s checks and keep them in a safe place in case you lose or misplace your checks.

Credit and debit cards
Visa, MasterCard, and American Express are widely accepted credit card brands in the USA. If you plan to use a credit or debit card from your local home bank, check whether you will be able to use the card in the US and if you will be charged any fees.

In order to use a debit card, you will need to know your PIN (Personal Identification Number, a number code you type to withdraw money from a cash machine or ATM). Without a PIN, you may not be able to use your card to pay for purchases.

International money orders (IMOs)
An IMO can be purchased from a bank in your home country. You buy the order in your local currency, and the bank then issues you a check in US dollars. IMOs can be deposited into a bank account or exchanged for US dollars.
Enter the United States

At your United States port of entry, an officer of the United States Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) department will review your documents, including your passport, visa, important letters (e.g., offer letter, vaccination certificate), and I-20.

The entry date listed in Program State Date section of the I-20 is the last possible day this form can be used for initial entry into the United States. New students may enter the US up to 30 days prior to this date.

Be prepared to answer the following questions:
- What will you study and where?
- Do you have family connections in the USA?
- What are your plans for returning to your home country?
- Where will you be staying in Boston?

Carry-on baggage checklist
- Airline tickets and passport
- Travel insurance documents
- International Pathways documents, including I-20 and Health Report form
- Evidence of financial resources
- Original academic certificates, transcripts and test scores
- Serial numbers for traveler’s checks
- Your accommodation address in the USA

Northeastern faculty and instructors also have “office hours,” which are times when they are available to discuss your academic development and provide additional help outside class.

Workshops and tutoring
The International Tutoring Center (ITC) offers one-on-one English language tutoring to help you improve your skills in conversation, interviewing and even résumé writing. During the Arrival Program, you’ll be introduced to Boston through tours and other fun activities. Pathways staff also organize trips around the city and to nearby towns throughout the year.

Sports town

At Northeastern, you can experience the thrill of Boston’s proud sports culture, whether watching a professional game or cheering on one of the University’s varsity teams (Go Huskies!). Most of the major sporting venues are close to campus, in particular Fenway Park, home to the famous Boston Red Sox baseball team.

Local professional sports teams
• Boston Bruins (ice hockey)
• Boston Celtics (basketball)
• Boston Red Sox (baseball)
• New England Patriots (American football)
• New England Revolution (soccer)

Weather

The weather in Boston changes dramatically between seasons, and sometimes even by the hour! The region is especially famous for its fall season, when the leaves turn brilliant shades of red, orange and yellow. Winter snow is beautiful, but can sometimes make it a challenge to get around in January and February. The temperatures become warmer and the days longer as you head into April. Boston summers bring heat and humidity, especially in July and August.
