

Action

on elder abuse

Scotland

Challenging harm and abuse of older people

Action on Elder Abuse (AEA) Scotland works to protect older people from harm and abuse. We support those experiencing (or at risk of) harm and abuse, as well as raising awareness and advocating effective prevention.

Harm and abuse can include:

- Physical
- Psychological
- Sexual
- Financial
- Neglect

What does AEA Scotland do?

We aim to raise awareness of harm and abuse, provide advice and support to victims and others, and campaign for the best possible support framework.

Are you concerned about harmful behaviour or abuse?

Call us for FREE confidential advice

 0808 808 8141

Help is just a phone call away

Our work in Scotland

AEA Scotland was established in 2015. Our work is tailored to the unique Scottish adult support and protection framework, and guided by a team of expert advisers. We work closely with a range of local and national partners, as well as older people themselves.

What services does AEA Scotland offer?

- Our freephone Scottish Helpline for anyone concerned about elder abuse (0808 808 8141)
- Scottish and UK-wide information materials
- Public consultation events for older people
- Regular conferences, events and training for staff
- Newsletters and social media updates

Contact us:
Action on Elder Abuse Scotland
PO Box 29244
Dunfermline
KY12 2EG

Join our mailing list to keep up to date with news and developments in Scotland and from across the UK:

Action on Elder Abuse Scotland

<http://eepurl.com/bt35F5>

scotland@elderabuse.org.uk

@AEAScotland

www.elderabuse.org.uk

AEA is a registered charity in England and Wales (1140543), and in Scotland (SC046278). Registered company no: 07290092.

LOTTERY FUNDED