Believe and Live

On Sunday next we welcome Bishop Alan Hopes to our Sunday evening Mass. The Mass will be followed by a meeting with young adults which will include scripture reflection, faith sharing, discussion and a question and answer session with Bishop Alan. A question has been posed to me: Why does the Bishop come to meet with one particular age group?

I am going to attempt to answer that question [I have not consulted with Bishop Alan or any of the organisers, this is simply my answer!]

The age range is approximately 18-35. These are the people with the time, energy, resources and ideas to build the Church of today and tomorrow. It is from this generation that the next generation of Church leaders will come. These are the parents, teachers, priests, nuns, bishops, missionaries, carers etc. of the future.

This is decision-making time in every aspect of life: education, career, faith, spirituality, relationships, morality, social involvement, etc. An evening like this is not about telling people what to do but rather to create a safe space where these issues can be explored.

The world is constantly changing. Every generation of Christians must learn anew how to live Christianity in the midst of the world it finds itself in. Therefore next Sunday, the Bishop meets with the generation who are experiencing and struggling with the unique challenges that living Christian life is faced with in our 21st century world. The Bishop comes to listen, learn, share with and support.

While the gifts and opportunities that this generation has are unique, the needs and challenges are also. The Bishop needs the voices, views, generosity, gifts and experience of this generation to help him fulfil his role in the Church, especially his role of preparing the Church for the challenges of the future.

The Catechism of the Catholic Church tells us: “Bishops have as their first task to preach the Gospel of God to all people. They are heralds of faith who draw new disciples to Christ”. Bishops cannot do this on their own. On Sunday next the Bishop will be meeting with young people who represent so many walks of life, facets of society, cultures and nationalities but who all share with Bishop Alan a commitment to Jesus Christ and a love for the Church. These people can reach so many others whom the Bishop's words or presence can never reach.

History has taught the Church, often in very painful ways, that it is only strong when it is united. The faith, prayer, commitment and creativity of the young generation can only reach its full potential when it is lived in union and communion with the Bishop. On the other hand, the Bishop can only fulfil his role well when he is listening to and sharing with the entire Church, but particularly with those who are in the best positions to influence the young people of today.

The theme of the evening is Believe and Live, taken from the Gospel passage [the raising of Lazarus from the dead] which is being reflected upon. The challenge of being a Believer living in our world today is great and we hope and pray that the evening will be an inspiration and source of strength and energy for all who attend.

I invite, in fact I strongly encourage, all young adults who come to this Church to come to the 6.00pm Mass next Sunday evening and stay for the meeting which will end at 9.00pm. Everyone, of course, is welcome to the Mass and I hope many people will come to encourage our young people and support them with your prayers. Finally I ask you all to spread the word around and invite every young person you know to attend. It is a unique opportunity to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ and to give some real hope and support to our young people.

Fr Matt Blake, Prior
