Issue 1. March 2018

Anyone for a “Flat White”

If you think that sounds like an invitation for a coffee, then you are right. However, it is an invitation for a coffee at Foulis, the catch being you have to row over ten miles to get there!

Alison Van Dyke and Fraser Mackenzie have come up with a plan to row from the Slaughterhouse to the Storehouse at Foulis, a distance of over 10 miles.

Please note: THIS IS NOT A RACE

There is a lot to be considered: change over of crews and Cox, there may be an opportunity to make a change of crew at the halfway stage with different crews and cox's for the return. There will be safety boats on hand and generally the whole event will be organised with safety being paramount.

If you are interested in taking part in this event please contact the committee by whatever means, verbal, e mail or messaging via web site.

In the event of this being oversubscribed it will be conducted on a “First Come” basis. Having said that, it would be ideal to have as many who are not actually rowing or coxing coming along as “Support”

The date of the event is 29th April 2018.

The plan is to leave Cromarty around 0930 and arrive at the Storehouse around mid-day a lunch there and start the return leg approximately 1400 arriving Cromarty at 1630 (ish)

These times above are an estimate at present and will be finalised before the date.

So come on guys and gals, put your name forward for what could be a fantastic day

This is the first Newsletter, it needs input from YOU!

When I agreed to write a newsletter, I assumed there would be input from the committee and the membership. It is a bit like “the chicken and the egg” Which comes first?

In order to make a success of the newsletter and to keep the membership informed, I ask that anyone with something worthwhile to include in this , which I hope will soon become a very illustrious publication, should send your articles, updates, information and pictures to me at my email address:
g.selvester@btinternet.com

Do not worry about spelling or grammar I will edit before publication

This first edition is simply a trial run, it can only improve with your help
Thanks in anticipation
