Think twice

People in England are being urged to think twice about travelling to tourism hotspots over the bank holiday weekend, with warm weather again forecast. The National Trust, councils and the AA are urging people across England to stay close to home and explore local green spaces instead of travelling long distances to beaches and beauty spots.

It's important to keep to the rules: they're there to keep people safe. We can all help control the virus if we stay alert. This means you must:

- stay at home as much as possible
- work from home if you can
- limit contact with other people
- keep your distance if you go out (2m apart where possible)
- wash your hands regularly

Do not leave home if you or anyone in your household has symptoms.

Avoid bonfires this Bank Holiday

Be considerate to your neighbours and spare our Fire Service from unnecessary demand. Avoid lighting bonfires this Bank Holiday. Smoke from fires can aggravate the symptoms of vulnerable residents and cause people stress when they are staying at home to shield, isolate or social distance.

Extra Bank Holiday for October being considered

The Government is considering introducing an extra Bank Holiday, possibly in October around the time of half-term. The idea was put forward by the UK's tourism agency, Visit Britain, who said it expected the tourism industry to lose £37 billion because of the coronavirus lockdown, including lost earnings over the two Bank Holidays in May. The Government said it would "respond in due course" to the proposal. Guardian, BBC Online, Telegraph

No idling at the tip

All 16 of Somerset Waste Partnership's (SWP) recycling centres will be open after the Bank Holiday weekend. SWP is asking people to only visit sites if it's really necessary. Long queues are expected at certain times, especially first thing in the morning, as the number of unloading bays has been reduced to allow social distancing.

High Court success for Mendip over Neighbourhood Plan challenge

A judge has ruled that Mendip District Council acted appropriately in approving a draft Neighbourhood Plan for referendum, in Norton St Philip.

The High Court victory means the Neighbourhood Plan for the Somerset parish can be given substantial weight in planning decisions. It also means the injunction placed on the parish referendum is now lifted, and local people can vote on whether or not their Neighbourhood Plan should be adopted.

Legal arguments brought against Mendip by developers Lochailort Investments Ltd, were dismissed on all grounds by the judge. Mrs Justice Lang also ordered that Lochailort pay the Council's legal costs. The District Council currently awaits the outcome of an application to the Court of Appeal.

Wildflowers for Mendip - action imminent

Coronavirus was/is devastating for many, but not all. There are some positives, especially for wildlife in Mendip – it's thriving.

The emergency meant large areas of amenity grass were left uncut, and still remain so, providing a unique opportunity for the Council.

Mendip was already looking at wildflower and rewilding proposals, now this idea has been accelerated. Areas have been identified for seasonal or Eco cuts.

There will now follow engagement with Town and Parish councils regarding these locations – working together for good of our neighbourhoods, the wildlife, and planet.

The rewilding plans meet the objectives of the Council's Climate Emergency and Ecological Group (CEEG), and one of Mendip's key corporate priorities too.

The Council need to act fast. Decisions must be made in next couple of weeks to fit in with the season, but no doubt as more detail about these plans emerge, they will be welcomed by local people and wildlife groups.

Frome regeneration: Saxonvale works commence

Mendip District Council is commencing works as part of ongoing essential environmental and drainage assessments and improvements at Saxonvale, Frome.

The Council's contractor will be working under strict Covid-19 site operating procedures.

In focus: Landlords and tenants

Mendip District Council is urging tenants and landlords in financial hardship or at risk of homelessness to contact them, sooner rather than later.

The Council's Housing Options Team has professional, knowledgeable officers on hand to provide support and assistance, whatever the circumstances. And they are ready to help those who are struggling due to the coronavirus emergency and its impact on the economy.

Tenants and homeowners may be worried about how to pay the rent or mortgage. Some may fear they'll lose accommodation that's tied to their job. Others may be in an abusive relationship during lockdown, thinking they have nowhere to turn.

Landlords with tenancy issues, or suffering financial hardship through non-payment of rent, can speak with Mendip's Housing Options Team who are experts at resolving tenancy matters, can engage tenants with appropriate assistance and support, and ensure the smooth running of tenancies for both tenant and landlord to avoid costly evictions and potential homelessness.

If you have accommodation that is empty and ready to let, the Council has a number of clients who are looking for homes now. These clients are assessed and affordability-checked to ensure sustainable tenancies are created to the benefit of all concerned. The Council even provides ongoing advice and assistance throughout the length of the tenancy, if required.

Please contact the Housing Options Team if you have accommodation to let and can help with this need. Call 0300 303 8588.

Properties in need of repair and improvement may be eligible for council grants or loans so they can be safely lived in. Property owners should contact the Private Sector Housing Team in this instance, or visit: www.mendip.gov.uk/financialassistance
