

SEPA Report

November 21

Petroineos: The site has been undergoing a period of maintenance, which led to the majority of the large units being shut down. Two noise complaints linked to short duration steam venting were received during the shutdown process on 30 October and 03 November. The site is anticipating resuming full operation in early December. The issue of steam venting during shutdowns and start-ups is being followed up by SEPA with the Site. SEPA have also resumed site visits.

Versalis: Nothing to report.

Fuji: Nothing to report.

Ineos Chemicals: The ethylene plant has re-started following a maintenance shutdown. SEPA received several complaints during this period.

CalaChem: No complaints received since our last update. We are continuing to work with the company towards earliest implementation of a long-term solution to reduce odour emissions.
