

Don't Be Discourage

By Margaret Alicia (Farrell) (Cabey) Gage-Forrester 2012

Don't Be discourage,
Don't be discourage,
There is a light there is a light,
That shineth brightly, that shineth brightly,
And the darkness can't comprehend it,
It can't comprehend it, can't comprehend it,
There is a light.

Burst forth for I am with thee
You'll leap over mountains,
You'll leap over walls,
For there is a light that shineth brightly,
And no darkness can comprehend it,
It can't comprehend it, can't comprehend it.
There is a light.

So don't be discourage, don't be discourage,
So don't be discourage, don't be discourage,
There is a light, there is a light,
That shineth brightly, that shineth brightly,
And the darkness can't comprehend it,
It can't comprehend it, it can't comprehend it,
For there is a light, there is a light,
There is a light.
