The Art Society of Inverness was founded in 1949 and has over 230 members across the Highlands & Islands.

The Art Society provides a variety of opportunities for people of all ages and artistic abilities, who are interested in painting, drawing and creative expression.

New members are always very welcome and are encouraged to develop their interests and skills in a friendly and accessible environment.

The Art Society is non-profit making and uses its funds for the benefit of members.

ASI sends members a copy of our Artyfacts magazine six times a year, which gives details of classes, art-themed trips, talks & demonstrations, forthcoming exhibitions plus members contributions.

The society has a well stocked library of art books & DVDs, which members can borrow free of charge.

From September to April we meet on the last Saturday of the month at the King's Factory, Smithton. There is always a talk or demonstration from a professional artist, as well as the chance to chat informally with other members. Visitors are always welcome.

Our main event of the year is the Annual Exhibition, where members can show and sell their artwork.

The classes currently available to members are:

Morning Art Group

Held at Merkinch Community Centre, Inverness (with disabled access)

Members meet to carry out their own artistic interests, alongside other members in an informal setting. Be assured of good company and plenty of encouragement!

Price for one term - £40 (attending once a week) or £70 (attending twice a week)

Evening classes

Held at Merkinch Community Centre, Inverness (with disabled access)

These are supported by a professional artist, for members to carry out their own work and offer the opportunity to try out new techniques and/or mediums.

Price is typically £45 for 6 weekly sessions.

Workshops & monthly painting days with various professional artists

Some experience is usually needed, but these activities provide a great opportunity to try out new techniques and media.

Prices are typically £25 per day or £40 for two days.

Various locations are used and further information can be provided about specific accessibility.
