Annual Report for 2020/2021

We have not met together to enjoy a programme of talks for the whole of the 2020/21 season – nearly a year and a half of inactivity now. The decision was taken out of our hands with the pandemic still exerting its hold on every part of society and live events and gatherings banned.

The committee has met virtually to review the situation at intervals; we have discussed whether or not to present online meetings. Our decision has been to wait until we are able to meet again in person, as the social side of our meetings is a feature that most members enjoy. A ‘real life’ meeting has always been our preference.

We are hearing that many history societies will struggle to get going again after such a long break and getting ‘out of the habit’ – reluctance on the part of both members and committees. We certainly hope that is not the case with our own society.

As soon as we are able to meet up again, whatever guidelines are laid down, we will endeavour to present a programme of talks for members and visitors to enjoy.
