

Monday 18th January 2021

History

I know that Henry VIII created the Church of England.

I know why Henry VIII created the Church of England

H: I can use enquiry questions such as why, where, who, , what, when

I can find answers to simple questions about the past by using source material

Colour Henry's reasons below to show whether you think they are a good reason for him to have separated the Church from Rome, or a bad reason.

Colour code your choices here:

Reasons Henry should separate the Church

Reasons Henry should not separate the Church

I am desperate for a son and I can't have one unless I divorce Catherine.	I will become the leader of the Church and remain in England, rather than the Pope who is in Rome.
I will keep most of the Church's Catholic practices the same anyway.	I need absolute power over my country.
I think my marriage might be against God's will.	The English Church will no longer have to send money to Rome.
I have fallen in love with Anne Boleyn, but I'm still married to Catherine.	I could use the money from the monasteries to fund the war in France.
I will execute anyone who refuses to follow my beliefs.	I have inspected the monasteries and found them breaking the rules they should've been following so they need to be stopped.
Catherine does not want to divorce me, but if I become head of the Church I can make her divorce me.	Monasteries are places where poor people can go to school or hospital.
If I claim to be head of the Church instead of the Pope, people will think I am blasphemous (extremely disrespectful to God).	If I am head of the Church, I can allow Bibles to be written in English instead of Latin.