

About of 1600 London

On this side of the spooky medieval church you will spot the black, weird shadows of the grey, tacky gloves and fresh, green grass underneath the graves. In front of the brown, wooden church you will find the cold, dreadful breeze blowing across your face and hear a church choir singing and the bells ringing.

As you walk down the cobbled streets we'll find smelly piles of poo and flies landing on it next to two rotten pigs.
Turning around the corner you'll see chaotic
