

Resource 1

Look at the resource below, which gives us more information about refugees.

A refugee is someone who has left their country quickly to escape danger and is now living in another country.

In order to escape their country, refugees may have to make a long and dangerous journey. Sometimes they must cross into another country at night, without being seen.

Once they have arrived in a new country, refugees are often faced with even more difficulties. They may not have any money, speak the language or know anybody.

What might it be like to go to school with children who do not speak the same language as you?

Some refugees have to spend time in a refugee camp. The camps provide a temporary solution to shelter, food, water, clothing, blankets and healthcare.

Most refugees do not live in the camps. They find housing but sometimes this can be without heating or electricity. The picture below shows a group of Syrian refugees living in an abandoned factory in Lebanon.
