

Dear Parents,

Just a little not home to firstly say what another wonderful term we have had. Again, I must 'gush' about how much progress the children have made especially with their writing. I really couldn't ask any more of them. When we return from the holidays, we are on our final countdown to the SAT tests. As always, all I ask of them is to listen; do what I ask of them and try their very best.

With this in mind, I have been thinking about Easter homework. On one hand, I truly believe the children should be given time to have a proper break and come back totally refreshed. However, as SATS are so close, a little homework will help to keep their brains ticking over. I have uploaded some documents on the class pages under the Year 6 area. Children also have their revision books to be working on at home. I have also added some links onto the website that could be used for 10 minutes per day.

Have a restful half term break and I will see you all when we return.

Mrs Groves.
