Literacy

Poetry- the children will study and compare two poems Goodnight Stroud by Pie Corbett and Last Night I Saw the City Breathing by Andrew Fusek Peters. They will discuss imagery, vocabulary and personification and compose a free verse poem.

Persuasive writing- the children will explore persuasive writing linked to the cities theme of the poetry. They will write and present a persuasive presentation in the role of residents at a public meeting to discuss plans for building a football stadium.

Jeremy Strong- the children will explore the work of Jeremy Strong. They will look at how he creates stories as a series of humorous episodes with pace and excitement. They will also look at techniques to help them understand how to create characters and dialogue. They will write their own episode to continue This is NOT a Fairy Tale by Jeremy Strong.

Biography and Autobiography- the children will examine the difference between biography and autobiography linked initially to material about Jeremy Strong. They will use material about Anthony Horowitz to practice note taking and plan an author blurb for a book. They will adapt this into a biographical presentation about Anthony Horowitz using Powerpoint.

Grammar-the children will learn about

- Modal verbs
- Adverbs of possibility.
- Brackets, dashes or commas to indicate parenthesis

Related Texts: Any other books by Jeremy Strong, Mr Gum books by Andy Stanton, Mr Stink by David Walliams, Diary of a Wimpy Kid by Jeff Kinney, The Power of Five books and Alex Rider books by Anthony Horowitz. 100 Years of Poetry for Children by Michael Harrison, Classic Poems for Children by Nicola Baxter, New and Collected Poems for Children by Carol Ann Duffy
