Year 7 Comments

Very pleased with Rohan's progress and involvement in different activities. Special thanks to Mr Smith - he is extremely committed and updates us personally every week. Brilliant.

Callum's first term has gone quite well with great support from all his teachers. He got a Principal's PE Award. I feel these awards should be presented in an Assembly to show that achievement is recognised, a piece of paper and a postcard does not show the privilege and importance of those awards. My personal opinion but we are delighted he was awarded.

Holly persistently complains about her English teacher. She feels that she cannot understand her and this is affecting her confidence.

I think more information about the Attainment level would be good as it is new and we have only just got our heads round the old levels. More with the numbers and what that means.

The regular and informative weekly communication from Finley's tutor has been very, very effective and has been the main factor in assisting our transition to WPA. Very early in the school year I felt Year 7's were expected to be self sufficient from day one and it seemed rather daunting.

More organised running of the All Weather Pitch at break/lunchtimes would be appreciated.

My son finds school work really hard. He also needs a lot of help with his homework. Sometimes there is too much for him as it takes him longer to complete and understand it.

Q10. No concerns raised. We are very happy with how she has settled in. She is enjoying the challenge
