Our approach to slavery and human trafficking

SharkNinja is committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in its supply chains or in any part of its business.

Shared core values are at the heart of the SharkNinja business: they define who we are, how we work, what we believe in, and what we stand for. We understand the fundamental importance of ethical trading and are committed to earning the respect of our personnel, customers and suppliers worldwide.

This statement is made to affirm our commitment to upholding basic human rights and prohibiting forced or involuntary labour in the production of Shark and Ninja products.

All personnel are expected to comply with our approach. We expect our business operations, our people and every company that we work with to conduct business ethically and legally throughout our global organisation.

Our supply chains

SharkNinja sources critical components from China, where most of our products are manufactured. We seek to only deal with reputable suppliers who share our approach to zero-tolerance in respect of human rights including welfare, trafficking and slavery.

SharkNinja conducts internal social compliance audits with first-tier suppliers. These audits include assessing employee labour; workers' pay, working hours, benefits and rights, in addition to environmental and workplace safety. During these audits, randomly selected workers are interviewed to assess their voluntary employment, their employment freedom and ensure they hold identification documentation, along with other legal requirements.

SharkNinja also expects first-tier suppliers to conduct audits of their suppliers. These audit reports are shared with SharkNinja to review.

Supplier adherence to our values

SharkNinja has a zero tolerance of slavery and human trafficking. To ensure all contractors and those in our supply chain comply with our values, all suppliers are required to read and acknowledge our policies. We include anti-slavery provisions in our standard supplier terms and conditions around the world. Within our supply chains, we seek annual compliance certifications from counterparties, and educate personnel on how to identify and deal with any potential modern slavery issues.

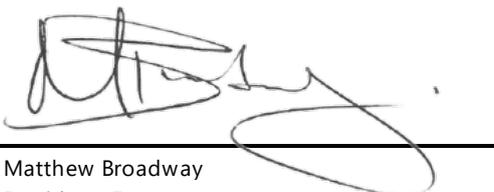

Training

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business, we provide anti bribery and corruption training to our employees. We expect our people to apply ethical standards in their day-to-day business and report any issues of concern on a confidential or anonymous basis at any time. These are underpinned by our Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy that is applicable and available to all our employees.

Continuous Improvement

Euro-Pro Europe Limited has seen year on year growth in the UK. We remain committed to ensuring our integrity is not compromised as our business evolves and continues to bring new innovative products to market. Over the past year we focussed on regulatory and social compliance in our factories and we will continue with this focus throughout our supply chain over the next financial year.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes our slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31 December 2019.
