

TRINITY CATHOLIC COLLEGE

Part of the Nicholas Postgate Catholic Academy Trust

To, too and two

Homophones

To, too and two

Two:

A number.

Example:

Two people went out on Friday.

Which sentence is correct?

1. Were you there two?

2. We're going two to the cinema two watch that film two.

3. There are only two boys in the group.

To, too and two

Too:

As in very or a lot of something.

Example:

"We have been abroad too often to count!"

Which sentence is correct?

1. Too tribes go too war.

2. "Where did you go too last night, mate?", asked Jemima.

3. "You're too shy to make it in show biz!", sneered the agent.

To, too and two

To:

If it isn't too much/ very and it isn't a number ten it is 'to'.

Example:

I really would like to attend the wedding-and indeed I intend to.
However, it is too expensive to go for two nights.

Which sentence is correct?

1. "It is to hot!", moaned Hillary.

2. To volunteers helped the patients off the train.

3. "I am going to Asda later-
would you like anything?"