

Cambridge University

Botanic Garden

FAMILY ACTIVITIES AT HOME

Nature memory game

Ages
3+

You will need:

- A selection of natural objects
- Somebody to play with
- A tray (optional)

Have a go at this simple game to test your memory skills and to get to know different plants. Make it easy or super hard – it's up to you!

HOW TO PLAY

1. Find some natural objects and lay them out on a tray.
2. Give everyone playing a couple of minutes to try and memorise everything on the tray.
3. One person removes one item while the other person closes their eyes.
4. The person who hasn't been looking has to work out which item is missing!
5. Now swap over. How good are you at noticing what's missing?

You can play this game when you're out and about too. Just lay your objects out on the ground instead of on a tray.

If you fancy more of a challenge, try some of these ideas to make the game harder:

- Add more objects
- Challenge yourself to use the correct names for the plants
- Use plants that look similar

