Acta Dermatovenerologica Alpina Pannonica et Adriatica (Acta Dermatovenerol APA) is an open access journal. Open access charges allow publishers to make the published material available for free to all interested online visitors. To provide open access, journal uses a business model in which our expenses, including those of peer review, journal production, and online hosting and archiving, are recovered in part by charging a publication fee to the authors or their supporting institution for each article they publish.

Open access publishing proposes a relatively new model for scholarly journal publishing that provides immediate, worldwide, barrier-free access to the full-text of all published articles. Open access allows all interested readers to view, download, print, and redistribute any article without a subscription, enabling far greater distribution of an author's work than the traditional subscription-based publishing model. The impact of the published work is greatly increased by the open access publishing.

Editors and reviewers of Acta Dermatovenerol APA have no access to payment information, and hence inability to pay will not influence the editors' and reviewers' decision to accept an article for publishing.

Publishing an article in Acta Dermatovenerol APA requires article-processing charges that will be billed to the submitting author upon acceptance of the article for publication in accordance with the following table. There are no submission charges, no page charges, and no colour charges. You do not have to pay any charges if the article is not accepted for publication.

Table 1. Manuscript types and corresponding article-processing charges (fee). Please note that our fees do not include taxes. Authors resident in any European Union country have to add Value-Added Tax (VAT).
