

TellTheChef.com Privacy Policy

We take the privacy of users data very seriously. The entire TellTheChef.com LTD system is designed to provide all users with complete control over their data.

We believe that your personal data is your own, and you should control it. Because of this TellTheChef.com do not rent, sell or otherwise disclose named individual's personal data to 3rd parties other than as necessary to provide our services to individuals and venues, unless we are required to do so by law.

As a customer of a venue or venues that use TellTheChef.com for their pre-ordering services (customer) you have complete access to data stored about you - simply log in at https://www.tellthechef.com/account/delete_account/ and you can delete your account at any time.

This Privacy Policy describes how we collect, use and look after your personal data whether you are just visiting our website, or you have registered to access and use the services provided via our portal service including when you manage your event booking on line or you are a member of a party associated with a booking (together our services). It also tells you about your rights and how the law protects you.

Here's the long version.

1 Important information

Our services are not intended for children and we only collect data relating to children where this information is provided as part of an event booking.

This Privacy Policy supplements the other notices (including our terms of use (Terms)) and is not intended to override them.

TellTheChef.com LTD (TTC, we us our) (Company number: 07587901) is the controller of data collected by our website and as part of the registration process to access our portal and we are therefore responsible for such personal data. However in certain circumstances we will also be a processor of data (when acting on behalf of venues) and the venues will be the controller, therefore if you are a customer, you should also check the venues privacy notices to ensure you understand how venues use and collect your data.

To assist you further in understanding this Privacy Policy, we have set out in the Schedule a glossary of terms used, examples of types of personal data we collect, how we use it, the lawful basis for processing such data and further details of your rights.

We have appointed a data privacy manager (DPM). If you have any questions about this Privacy Policy, including any requests to exercise your legal rights, please contact us in writing, using the details below:

Email address: datacontroller@tellthechef.com

Postal Address: TellTheChef.com LTD, 27 Park End Street, Oxford O1 1HU.

You have the right to make a complaint at any time to the ICO (www.ico.org.uk). We would, however, appreciate the chance to deal with your concerns before you approach the ICO so please contact us in the first instance.

We may change this Privacy Policy at any time by updating this page. Please check our website from time to time to ensure you are aware of any changes. If you do not accept any changes we may make to this Privacy Policy please stop using our services and close any user accounts you may have.

This Privacy Policy was last updated 25 May 2018.

Your duty to inform us of changes

It is important that the data we hold about you is accurate and current, therefore please keep us informed of any changes to your personal data.

Third-party links

Our website and portal may include links to third-party websites, plug-ins and applications. By clicking on these links or enabling connections you may be allowing third parties to collect or share your personal data. We have no control these third-party websites, plug in or applications and are not responsible for their privacy notices, therefore you should also read their privacy notices to understand what personal data they collect about you and how they use it.

2 The data we collect about you

We may collect, use, store and transfer the types of personal data about you listed in Part 1 of Schedule 1.

We also collect, use and share aggregated data. However, if we combine aggregated data with your personal data so that it can directly or indirectly identify you, we treat this as your personal data.

Special categories of personal data

We only collect and process information relating to food allergies for example wheat/gluten, egg, dairy or nut allergies, where you or a person acting on your behalf has specifically informed us of this, in order that the venue can cater for these dietary requirements. You do not have to provide this information and can discuss any special dietary requirements with the venue in person.

Failure to provide personal data

If we are required by law, or under the terms of a contract we have with you, to collect your personal data and you fail to provide it, we may not be able to enter into perform the contract with you and, we may have to cancel a product or service. We will notify you of this at the relevant time.

3 How personal data is collected

We collect personal data in the following ways:

direct interactions	you may provide personal data when you interact with our services, complete online forms, request products/services, create a user account, join our mailing list, or otherwise or correspond with us (by post, phone or email)
automated technology	we automatically collect personal data (technical and usage) when you browse or interact with our website, by using cookies, server logs and other similar technologies. We may also receive technical data about you if you visit other websites which use our cookies. Please see our cookie notice for further details publicly available sources	we may collect personal data from publicly available sources such as Companies House and the Electoral Register and credit reference agencies, based inside the EU, Twitter, Facebook, Google and LinkedIn
third parties	we may receive personal data from: (a) venues (b) people uploading information on your behalf as part of a booking (c) analytics providers based outside the EU (such as Google); (d) third party API's attached to our systems (such as ResDiary); and (e) our suppliers and contractors, such as payment providers, website support and maintenance providers, IT and service contractors

Please note that – where you are providing information on behalf of another person you warrant that you have their specific consent to share such information with us and that they have been made aware of this Privacy Policy. If you do not have their consent, please do not provide us with their personal data.

4 How we use your personal data

We will only use your personal data when the law allows us to. Most commonly, we will use your personal data:

- to perform the contract, we are to enter into or have entered into with you;
- to comply with a legal obligation; and
- where it is necessary to carry out our legitimate interests (or those of a third party) and your interests and fundamental rights do not override those interests.

Part 2 of Schedule 1 sets out the lawful basis we will rely on to process your personal data.

We do generally only rely on consent as a legal basis for processing your personal data to send email and SMS marketing communications and you have the right to withdraw your consent at any time by contacting us.

Please note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your information.

Marketing

We may analyse your personal data to form a view on what products and or services we think may be of interest to you. You will only receive marketing communications from us, if you have requested information from us or purchased services from us, if you consent to marketing at the time we collect your personal data and you have not subsequently opted out or withdrawn your consent or if we have another basis to send you the marketing communications.

We will not share your personal data with third parties for their marketing purposes.

How to opt out

You can opt out of email marketing by clicking the unsubscribe button within the particular marketing email or changing your user account settings. You can also withdraw your consent to marketing at any time by contacting us.

Even if you opt out of receiving marketing, we may still use your personal data for other purposes for example to manage your booking or provide our services to you.

Change of purpose

We will only use your personal data for the purpose that it was originally collected it for, unless we reasonably consider that we need to use it for another reason and that reason is compatible with the original purpose.

If we need to use your personal data for an unrelated purpose, we will notify you and we will explain the legal basis which allows us to use your personal data in this manner.

We may process your personal data (without your knowledge or consent) where this is required or permitted by law.

5 Disclosure of your personal data

In order to provide our service to you and where you are a customer, to allow you to manage your booking, we will have to share your personal data with the relevant venue and our contractors. We may also have to share your personal data with third parties, further details of which are set out in Part 4 of Schedule 1. We require all third parties to respect the security of your personal data and to treat it in accordance with the law. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes. They can only process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

6 International transfers

Some of our external third parties are based outside the European Economic Area (EEA) so their processing of your personal data will involve a transfer of data outside the EEA.

Generally, if we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we will ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by ensuring that we:

- only transfer your personal data to countries that have been deemed to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data by the European Commission; or
- use specific contracts approved by the European Commission which give personal data the same protection it has in Europe with our services providers, including to the US providers under the Privacy Shield.

7 Data security

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. We also limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know and they can only process your personal data on our instructions and will be subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We have procedures in place to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

8 Data retention

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes we collected it for, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, accounting, or reporting requirements.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements. However, we are legally required to keep basic information about our customers (including contact, identity, financial and transaction data) for six years after they cease being customers, for tax purposes.

We may also anonymise your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for research or statistical purposes. We can use anonymised information indefinitely without further notice to you.

9 Your legal rights

You have certain rights in certain circumstances under data protection law. These are set out in full in Part 3 of Schedule 1. If you wish to exercise any of your rights, please contact us.

You will not have to pay a fee to exercise any of your rights. However, if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive, we may charge a reasonable fee for this information or refuse to comply with your request.

We may request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity when you contact us. This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who does not have the right to receive it.

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.
