

MHRA Referencing: Author Guidelines

About this Guide

Submissions to the Journal of Perpetrator Research (JPR) should follow the MHRA Style Guide, third edition (2013). This is a short guide to citing and referencing using this system. The guide is intended to cover the main features of the MHRA style and provide examples of how to reference the most common types of sources. For more details, see the Online MHRA Guide or download the latest edition of the Style Guide as a PDF file.

1. MHRA: Main Features

IN-TEXT CITATIONS	- Single quotation marks ('x').	Adorno is quite emphatic on the point that there is little we can learn from studying the victims that can help us to ensure that 'Auschwitz not happen again'. ¹
	- The note reference number should be placed in superscript (²) at the end of the quoted passage.
FOOTNOTES	- Several sources within the same footnote should be separated with a semicolon (;).	1 Wolf Kaiser, 'Nazi Perpetrators in Holocaust Education', Teaching History , 141(2010), 34–39; Samuel Totten, Teaching about Genocide: Issues, Approaches, and Resources (Greenwich: IAP, 2004).
	- The first reference to a source should be given in full, in the same format as it appears in the bibliography, but without inverting name and surname and closed by a full stop.	2 Dora Apel, 'Torture Culture: Lynching Photographs and the Images of Abu Ghraib', Art Journal , 64.2 (2005).
	- The term 'ibid.' should be used only where there is no possibility of confusion. It should always be used in capitalized form (Ibid.).	3 Saira Mohamed, 'Of Monsters and Men: Perpetrator Trauma and Mass Atrocity', Columbia Law Review , 115.5 (2015), 1157–1216. 4 Ibid., 1158.
	- Any missing required info. should be indicated accordingly ([n.p.] (= no place), [n. pub.] (= no publisher), [n.d.] (= no date)).	4 Dr. Ante Pavelić riešio je hrvatsko pitanje , ed. by Ivo Bogdan (Zagreb: [n. pub.], 1942).
LATER REFERENCES	- Should be given in abbreviated form, usually the author's name followed by the volume (if applicable) and page reference.	5 McArthur, p. 62.
	- For edited volumes or essay collections, a short-title form of reference should be used.	6 Genocide by the Oppressed , p. 326.
AUTHORS	- The names of up to three authors should be given in full; for works by more than three authors only the first name should be given, followed by 'and others'.	7 Luke Syson and others, Leonardo da Vinci: Painter at the Court of Milan (London: National Gallery Company, 2011).
TITLES	- Title and subtitle should be separated by a colon (:) even if it is different to the grammar on the title page.	8 Roger D. Petersen, Understanding Ethnic Violence: Fear, Hatred, and Resentment in Twentieth-Century Europe (Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 2002).
	- Titles of other works or quoted phrases occurring within the title should be enclosed in quotation marks ("xy").	9 Richard Overy, "Ordinary Men," Extraordinary Circumstances: Historians, Social Psychology, and the Holocaust', Journal of Social Issues , 70 (2014), 515–30.

EDITIONS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - If the edition used is other than the first, this should be stated (x edn) - The abbreviation ed. or eds should be used 	10 Emily Dickinson: Selected Letters , ed. by Thomas H. Johnson, 2nd edn (Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1985), pp. 194–97.
VOLUMES	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - If the work is in more than one volume, the number of volumes should be given in the form 'x vols', indicating the number (in Roman numerals) and (if applicable) name of the referenced volume. 	11 Winston S. Churchill, The River War: An Historical Account of the Reconquest of the Soudan , 2 vols (London: Longman's Green, 1899), I.
URLS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - URLs should always be provided in full (without using URL shorteners) and indicating a date of access. 	12 Ewa Wanat, 'Plac Wolności', Salon 24 , 20 July 2007, < https://www.salon24.pl/u/ewawana-t/40116,plac-wolnosci > [accessed 12 Dec. 2018].
