Title of Programme: MA Global Film and Television (Online)
Programme Code: HUWGLFTM

Programme Specification

This programme specification is relevant to students entering:
17 September 2018

Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance):
Marjolein Groefsema

Signature

A programme specification is a collection of key information about a programme of study (or course). It identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the programme, lists the modules that make up each stage (or year) of the programme, and the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff. It also describes the structure of the programme, its progression requirements and any programme-specific regulations. This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right programme of study, to current students on the programme, and to staff teaching and administering the programme.

Programme Specification MA Global Film and Television (Online)

This programme specification (PS) is designed for prospective students, enrolled students, academic staff and potential employers. It provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the intended learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the teaching, learning and assessment methods, learning outcomes and content for each module can be found in Definitive Module Documents (DMDs) and Module Guides.

A. Programme Rationale

The MA in Global Film and Television is a two years part-time online course, offering a range of distinct critical and theoretical approaches. The course is innovative and differs from other programmes by exploring international examples of film and television via a new combination of methodologies, in forms of socio-stylistic analysis. It also investigates the various factors and effects of the global age, as expressed in works of film and television from around the world. As the industries of film and television become increasingly interconnected, the course considers their individual and shared stylistic and contextual relationships. The preferred methodological approach is of detailed studies in film and television criticism, and the close textual analysis of films and television programmes. Whereas stylistic criticism usually concentrates on Hollywood films, this MA is unique in applying the approach to (a) examples of US film beyond Hollywood, (b) of World Cinema, (c) of contemporary world television, (d) in tandem with strands of cultural theory not normally allied with close textual analysis. Placing the emphasis on the texts’ association with the global age, the course looks at some more familiar works from fresh perspectives, whilst making equal space for emergent and unexplored cinemas and television cultures. Students are asked to critique traditional theoretical and critical boundaries, seeking to see world cinema and television in a new light. The degree is dynamic in its cross-disciplinary links, bringing together specialists in film theory working within different areas of the School of Humanities. These connections and subject specialisms ensure that teaching and learning interlink directly with research: a dynamic most fruitfully realised at postgraduate level. The course engages with cutting-edge advancements in Film and Television Studies, contributing to the emergence of interest in stylistic explorations of globalisation.

This programme is relevant to the current climate, by keeping abreast of advances in communication technologies and providing a solution to the ever increasing constraints on time and monetary resources within personal budgets. The programme, offered 100% online provides a flexible solution for career development and skills enhancement relevant to the national and international audience without the risk of postponing or suspending employment. The programme will minimise direct and opportunity costs for students and employers.

The programme is supported by the dedicated business unit at UH to assist online programme development and delivery; UH Online. The collaboration between academic staff and UH Online ensures that the highest quality standards are maintained for content, delivery and student support and employment of the full range of delivery formats.

Specifically:
- A framework approach to learning has been applied to fully exploit e-learning potential. This approach uses an ongoing narrative which guides the student through relevant resources and tasks including presentations, podcasts, discussion blogs, Wikis, small group forums as well as e-books and journals.
- The programme facilitates opportunities for interaction between the academic staff and students replicating face-to-face delivery through: virtual lectures, skype meetings with personal tutors, virtual live discussion sessions.
- The programme maintains the flexible ‘self-paced’ nature of distance learning to fit with individual needs by posting these virtual lectures via podcast and online video.

B. Educational Aims of the Programme
The programme has been devised in accordance with the University's graduate attributes of programmes of study as set out in UPR TL03.

Additionally this programme aims to:
1. Develop a comprehensive understanding and application (to MA level) of the history, theory and current status of the field of stylistic criticism in Film and Television Studies.
2. Develop the ability to extend the principles of stylistic criticism beyond Hollywood to examples of independent American film, World Cinema, contemporary global television, and in tandem with forms of cultural theory.
3. Explore of the similarities and differences of the increasingly close spheres of television and film production, and related effects on style and meaning.
4. Provide an opportunity to carry critical and theoretical learning into a professional application via studies of film and television festivals, programming, promotion and curation.

C. Intended Learning Outcomes
The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes are referenced the Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies (2014), and relate to the typical student. Additionally, the SEEC Credit Level Descriptors for Further and Higher Education (2016) have been used as a guiding framework for curriculum design.

Application of stylistic criticism and cultural theory to international film and television texts

- Demonstrating knowledge and understanding of the contemporary institutions of film and television and their distinct/shared modes of production
- Demonstrating comprehensive knowledge and understanding of a broad range of classical, contemporary, Western and World film and television texts
- Demonstrating comprehensive knowledge and understanding of film festivals, programming, curation, and promotional activities

Teaching/learning methods & strategies

- Intellectual skills are developed throughout the programme by a combination of facilitated discussion forums, small group work and online meetings.
- Development of advanced intellectual skills within the programme will be facilitated by tasks where students share expertise and practical knowledge, via wikis and virtual small group discussion in workshops.

Assessment

- Intellectual skills are assessed through analysis, written coursework including essays, recorded presentations and pieces of close critical analysis (via wikis and blogs) and online formative exercises (B1-B3).

In addition, tutorial support will be scheduled (minimum of once per semester). This will be via Skype or Adobe Connect.

Throughout, the learner will be encouraged to undertake independent study both to supplement and consolidate what is being taught/learnt and to broaden their individual knowledge and understanding of the subject.

In addition to summative assessments, formative assessments will also be scheduled to allow for improvement in performance.

E. Management of Programme & Support for student learning

Management
The programme is managed and administered through:
- A Dean of School who has overall responsibility for all programmes in the School
- An Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance) who has overall responsibility for academic quality, assurance and enhancement with and on behalf of the Dean of School
A Programme Leader who is responsible for the day-to-day management of the programme
Admissions Tutors, with specific responsibility for selection
A Head of Media who is responsible for all the modules on the programme
A designated Humanities and UH Online Administrator to deal with day-to-day administration associated with the courses and modules within the Programme
The programme committee which has a membership which includes all of the above plus an Information Manager and student representatives
An Associate Dean of School (Learning and Teaching) who has overall responsibility for learning and teaching with and on behalf of the Dean of School
An Associate Dean of School (Commercial)
Module Leaders who are responsible for individual modules

Support
Students are supported by:

- Technical support from UH Online Educational Technologists
- Access to extensive digital collections of information resources
- The University’s Managed Learning Environment – StudyNet – a University-wide set of systems and tools for educational delivery.
- Essential electronic material provided on a CD for international students with connectivity challenges
- A Student Centre which provides advice on issues such as Finance, University regulations, legal matters, international student support etc.
- The Office of Dean of Students, incorporating Chaplaincy, Counselling and nursery
- Student Wellbeing: Disability Services
- Student Wellbeing: Counselling Centre
- An Equality Office
- The Students’ Union
- A Careers and Placement Service for all current students and graduates

At School level, students are further supported by:

- A Programme Leader to help students understand the programme structure and provide confidential academic and pastoral support
- The Head of Media
- A personal academic tutor
- A designated Programme Administrator to deal with day-to-day administration associated with the modules within the Programme
- Module Leaders who are responsible for individual modules
- Student Representatives on the Programme Committee
- A School Community Organiser (SCO)
- An induction to the programme at the beginning of each new academic session

F. Other sources of information
In addition to this Programme Specification, the University publishes guidance to registered students on the programme and its constituent modules:

- A Programme (or Student) Handbook;
- A Definitive Module Document (DMD) for each constituent module;
- A Module Guide for each constituent module.

The Herts Handbook is an introduction to the academic, social, cultural and sporting services and opportunities available at the University of Hertfordshire, and includes the Student Charter and Student Code of Conduct.

As a condition of registration, all students of the University of Hertfordshire are required to comply with the University's rules, regulations and procedures. These are published in a series of documents called ‘University Policies and Regulations’ (UPRs). The University requires that all students consult these documents which are available on-line, on the UPR web site, at: http://www.herts.ac.uk/secreg/upr/. In particular, UPR SA07 ‘Regulations and Advice for Students’ Particular Attention - Index’ provides information on the UPRs that contain the academic regulations of particular relevance for undergraduate and taught postgraduate students.

The UK Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (QAA) has confirmed the quality and standards of provision at the University of Hertfordshire. A key part of QAA’s role is to review and report on how universities maintain their academic standards and quality, to inform students and the wider public. The team of QAA reviewers visited the University of Hertfordshire in 2015/16 and judged that its academic standards, the quality and enhancement of its students’ learning experience, and the quality of information about this learning experience all meet UK expectations. In other words, the University meets national requirements for standards and quality. The QAA’s report can be accessed at: http://www.qaa.ac.uk/reviews-and-reports/provider?UKPRN=10007147#.V-KHajXy0nE

G. Entry requirements

The normal entry requirements for the programme are:

1) A good Bachelor’s degree (minimum 2.2 or equivalent) in a relevant discipline.

2) Access to computer equipment with the following minimum specification:

   http://www.herts.ac.uk/more/uh-online-distance-learning/frequently-asked-questions/system-requirements.cfm

An interview is not a required component of the admissions process, but all applicants will be invited to an informal online discussion with the Programme Leader prior to admission (via Skype).

International students should have an English Language assessment of IELTS 7, or equivalent as determined by the School of Humanities.

The programme is subject to the University’s Principles, Policies and Regulations for the Admission of Students to Undergraduate and Taught Postgraduate Programmes (in UPR SA03), along with associated procedures. These will take account of University policy and guidelines for assessing accredited prior certificated learning (APCL) and accredited prior experiential learning (APEL).

If you would like this information in an alternative format please contact: AskUHOnline@herts.ac.uk

KEY TO PROGRAMME LEARNING OUTCOMES

Key to Programme Learning Outcomes

Knowledge and Understanding
A1. Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and understanding of research methods employed by scholars of Film and Television Studies

A2. Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the application of stylistic criticism and cultural theory to international film and television texts

A3. Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and understanding of the contemporary institutions of film and television and their distinct/shared modes of production

A4. Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and understanding of a broad range of classical, contemporary, Western and World film and television texts

A5. Demonstrate comprehensive knowledge and understanding of film festivals, programming, curation and promotional activities

Practical Skills
C1-Complete a dissertation or extended project in the subject

C2 - Make use of Information Hertfordshire's critical databases

Intellectual Skills
B1- To be able to use a range of techniques and research methods applicable to advanced scholarship in the subject

B2 – To be able to create a critical review of existing literature and debate/evaluate scholarly outputs

B3 – To be able to identify emergent trends and issues in the field

transferable Skills
D1-Communicate effectively, both orally and in writing

D2-Present and support an extended argument

D3-Further develop organisational and presentational skills

D4-Communicate effectively, with colleagues and a wider audience in a variety of media.
