A programme specification is a collection of key information about a programme of study (or course). It identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the programme, lists the modules that make up each stage (or year) of the programme, and the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff. It also describes the structure of the programme, its progression requirements and any programme-specific regulations. This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right programme of study, to current students on the programme, and to staff teaching and administering the programme.

Programme Specification Languages

This programme specification (PS) is designed for prospective students, enrolled students, academic staff and potential employers. It provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the intended learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the teaching, learning and assessment methods, learning outcomes and content for each module can be found in Definitive Module Documents (DMDs) and Module Guides.

Language of Delivery

A. Programme Rationale

Language study is available as a minor pathway within the framework of the Humanities Programme, the Joint Honours Programme, all undergraduate programmes of the Business School and the Credit Accumulation and Transfer Programme.

- The Languages provision is designed to complement, support and enhance students' studies in other subject areas on their respective Programmes.
- It provides a structured sequence of modules through which students can develop their knowledge, understanding and skills within the study of their chosen language and offers a clearly articulated pattern of progression on each of three different entry routes.
- The offer of French, German, Japanese, Mandarin and Spanish broadens the appeal of the subject area to students with little or no experience of foreign language learning and enhances their prospects for employability. It also addresses current government initiatives to encourage greater take-up of language learning in Higher Education.

Route A (Beginners) enables students with no previous knowledge to gain operational competence in a foreign language. Routes B (Intermediate) and C (Advanced) address the needs of students seeking to deepen previous knowledge and consolidate expertise in an existing qualification gained at school or elsewhere.

Proficiency in a foreign language equips graduates for a variety of careers beyond the specialist occupations like translation, interpreting and teaching. Languages are increasingly required in any sector, either in the UK or overseas: e.g. The Civil Service, Local Government, Banking and Insurance, Law, Manufacturing, Marketing, PR, Creative and Media Industries.

B. Educational Aims of the Programme

The programme has been devised in accordance with the University's graduate attributes of programmes of study as set out in UPR TL03.

Additionally this programme aims to:

- develop students' oral, listening, reading and writing skills in the foreign language at an appropriate level, in accordance with their point of entry at either route A (Beginners), B (Intermediate) or C (Advanced);
- expose students to a range of authentic materials in the target language, including written, electronic and audio sources in a variety of styles and registers;
- enable students to develop competence in formal grammar, taught by instruction, through the use of ICT resources and by guided study of a textbook, drills and exercises;
- equip students with the practical language expertise appropriate to their level of study which will be useful to them in both social and professional contexts;
- foster in students intercultural awareness and empathy with the people of the country/countries of the target language;
- provide students with a knowledge of the social, cultural, economic and political structure of the country/countries of the target language and thereby give students an awareness of the differences and similarities with the United Kingdom and an insight into the reason for these.
- prepare students to operate in the global economy in careers in which practical knowledge of a foreign language is a useful skill

C. Intended Learning Outcomes

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes are referenced to the QAA benchmark statements for Languages, Cultures and Societies (Sept 2015) and the Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies (2014) and relate to the typical student. Additionally, the SEEC Credit Level Descriptors for Further and Higher Education (2016) have been used as a guiding framework for curriculum design.

D. Programme Structures, Features, Levels, Modules, and Credits

Languages is offered as a minor study, amounting to one quarter of an Honours student's programme in full-time (3 years), Sandwich (4 years) and part-time (5 years) mode leading to the award of a BA Hons (Humanities Programme) and to the award of BA/BSc Honours (University Joint Honours and Business School Programmes).

Entry is normally at level 4 with the appropriate maximum pre-requisite for the Language Route studied. Route A (Beginner: no prior knowledge), Route B (Intermediate: GCSE A-C only) and Route C (Advanced: A2 only). Students who do not fit the standard profile are assessed on an individual basis. Intake is normally semester A (September) and/or B (February) for European and CATS exchange students.

All language modules are assessed by 100% practical. All modules are all 15 credits unless otherwise stated.

Work-Based Learning, including Sandwich Programmes

An award in the sandwich mode requires the successful completion of at least 36 weeks placement activity from a maximum of two separate placements in addition to the period of academic study required for the full-time award. This optional placement year is undertaken after Level 5 and before Level 6 and meets the SEEC criteria for Level 6.
