A programme specification is a collection of key information about a programme of study (or course). It identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the programme, lists the modules that make up each stage (or year) of the programme, and the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff. It also describes the structure of the programme, its progression requirements and any programme-specific regulations. This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right programme of study, to current students on the programme, and to staff teaching and administering the programme.

Summary of amendments to the programme:

Section	Amendment
D	Removed requirement to pass Solicitors Accounts and Professional Conduct and Regulation at first attempt to be considered for Commendation or Distinction
1 & D	Postgraduate Diploma Legal Practice has been added as a final award
D	Replaced ADR with Private Acquisitions as an optional module for Stage 2.

A. Programme Rationale

The LLM Legal Practice fulfils the academic requirements of the vocational stage of training for qualification as a solicitor. The programme is validated by the Solicitors Regulation Authority who have authorised the University of Hertfordshire as a provider.

The programme complements the range of programmes offered by Hertfordshire Law School which also offers the academic stage of training for the solicitors' profession through two undergraduate programmes, the LLB and Joint Honours, thus allowing students to complete both academic and vocational stages of training to enter the solicitor's profession.

The programme also provides students with an advanced academic qualification which will enhance their employability and allow them to access the postgraduate loan from Student Finance England.

B. Educational Aims of the Programme

The programme has been devised in accordance with the University's graduate attributes of programmes of study as set out in UPR TL03.

Additionally, this programme aims to:

Prepare students for work-based learning during the Training Contract/Period of Recognised Training (PRT).

C. Intended Learning Outcomes

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes are referenced the Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies (2014) and relate to the typical student. Additionally, the SEEC Credit Level Descriptors for Further and Higher Education (2016) have been used as a guiding framework for curriculum design.

Transferable skills:	Teaching/learning methods & strategies	Assessment

Transferable skills are developed through workshops in which students are encouraged to reflect on their learning needs, in relation to knowledge and understanding, intellectual and practical skills.	Transferable skills are assessed through weekly workshops and formative assessment tasks. D1 is not generally summatively assessed (with the exception of the Research Project oral) and students are expected to identify their learning needs in response to formative assessment feedback and to address the feedback when undertaking summative assessment.
D2- Be able to transfer skills learnt in one context to another	Each workshop provides the opportunity for formative assessment in the context of the requirements of the programme.	Students are assessed through examinations which are either 'Open Book' or with 'Permitted Materials', or coursework and practical skills exercises in Stages 1 & 2 and the Semester C elements of the programme and are required to demonstrate their application from the module in which they were taught to other modules in the programme (D2). The research project requires students to develop their research skills and present their conclusions and proposal in a clear and comprehensive manner.
D3- Develop the appropriate professional, legal and ethical skills necessary for meeting the needs of clients.	Students receive formal formative assessment opportunities for each element of assessment and receive individual feedback on this performance (D1).
D4- Engage with legal and professional principles to undertake independent research and present conclusions and proposals in a critical and well-reasoned manner.	As the skills requirements pervade the programme, students are able to benefit from their experience earlier in the programme to further develop and apply skills appropriately to other areas (D2).
	Throughout, the student is encouraged to develop transferable skills by maintaining a record of evidence and completing a personal development plan.

D. Programme Structures, Features, Levels, Modules, and Credits

The programme is offered in a full-time mode over an extended academic year of 48 weeks, and leads to the award of a LLM Legal Practice (Stage 1 and Stage 2 and the Semester C Legal Research Project module). Entry is at Level 7 following satisfactory completion of a qualifying undergraduate degree or the completion of the Common Professional Examination/Graduate Diploma in Legal Studies which satisfies the Solicitors Regulation Authority requirements for admission to the vocational stage of training upon a Legal Practice Course.

The annual intake occurs in early September in Semester A for Stage 1 entrants.

Stage 1 comprises: Business Law and Practice (including Business Accounts), Property Law and Practice, Litigation, Wills and Administration of Estates and Solicitors Accounts together with the core skills of Interviewing and Advising, Advocacy, Writing, Drafting, Practical Legal Research and Professional Conduct and Regulation. All modules are compulsory.

Stage 2 comprises three optional modules selected from Table 1a below which build upon the compulsory elements of Stage 1 and permit further in-depth study into chosen areas of law and practice and further development of core skills. Completion of Stage 2 on its own does not carry an academic award.

The Employability Skills and Career Planning module will run alongside the Stage 1 and Stage 2 modules and will complement the specific legal skills development which forms an intrinsic part of this programme by helping students to continue to evaluate, develop and demonstrate their employability skills and formulate, refine and implement a career development plan.

In order to gain the LLM qualification students will be required in Semester C to undertake one further module. They will complete a 60 credit Legal Research Project.
