Programme Specification

This programme specification is relevant to students entering:

Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance):

A programme specification is a collection of key information about a programme of study (or course). It identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the programme, lists the modules that make up each stage (or year) of the programme, and the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff. It also describes the structure of the programme, its progression requirements and any programme-specific regulations. This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right programme of study, to current students on the programme, and to staff teaching and administering the programme.

Programme Specification  Mass Communications

This programme specification (PS) is designed for prospective students, enrolled students, academic staff and potential employers. It provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the intended learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the teaching, learning and assessment methods, learning outcomes and content for each module can be found in Definitive Module Documents (DMDs) and Module Guides.

Section 1

A. Programme Rationale
The programme is designed to recruit students who want to explore the way Media Communications are becoming increasingly central to our everyday lives, and how their intersections with the social, political and commercial spheres are of growing significance to our globalising world. The programme seeks to prepare students for the media and publishing industries – now one of the most dynamic sectors in the global employment market. The Mass Communications degree draws on major schools and thinkers within the Humanities and Social Sciences, and equips students with critical theoretical and practical tools. Through the Mass Communications Programme, students will engage with some of the key debates relating to global and local media, and will consider the relationship between media organisations and contemporary societies.

Graduates are equipped for a variety of careers including those traditionally open to honours graduates in Communications and related disciplines, e.g. teaching, local government, journalism, marketing and corporate communications, as well as publishing and media-related industries. The programme also prepares students for further study at postgraduate level.

AS Review Date June 2020
B. Educational Aims of the Programme
The programme has been devised in accordance with the University’s graduate attributes of programmes of study as set out in UPR TL03. The framework aims to provide a modular structure for the following subjects, each with its own programme specification:

- Media (comprising Media Cultures and New Media Publishing),
- Film,
- Journalism,
- English Language & Communication
- Creative Writing.

Additionally this programme aims to:
- a structured but flexible programme for the study of Mass Communications disciplines, offering students a choice of subjects and modes of study;
- opportunities for students to acquire general transferable skills which are of relevance to a wide range of careers;
- a supportive, academic and pastoral framework for students on the programme;
- the opportunity to study in a University in Europe, North or South America, Australia, or Asia.

C. Intended Learning Outcomes
The Programme learning outcomes for individual graduates are described in associated field specifications. The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes are referenced to the QAA benchmark statements for Communication, Media, Film and Cultural Studies; Linguistics and the Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies (2014) and relate to the typical student. Additionally, the SEEC Credit Level Descriptors for Further and Higher Education (2016) have been used as a guiding framework for curriculum design.

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop knowledge, understanding, skills and other attributes which are detailed in the Programme Specifications for the subjects that contribute to The Mass Communications Programme, as listed above.

The Year Abroad will expand a student’s knowledge and understanding of a different culture, develop skills in the language of the host institution, where applicable, and develop subject skills and skills associated with living independently in a different culture.

The sandwich year will provide students with the opportunity to set your academic studies in a broader, practical context and to gain experience in specific areas relevant to your fields of study. You will also strengthen your time management, organisational and communication skills as well as develop employability skills.

D. Programme Structures, Features, Levels, Modules, and Credits
The programme is offered in full-time (normally 3 years), sandwich (normally 4 years) and part-time (normally 5 years) modes, and leads to the award BA Degree with Honours with the appropriate title from those listed in Section 1.

Entry is normally at Level 4 (with suitable A level or equivalent qualifications) but is possible at Level 5 and Level 6 with suitable accredited prior learning. Intake is normally in Semester A.

Work-Based Learning, including Sandwich Programmes
An award in the sandwich mode requires the successful completion of at least 360 hours placement activity from a maximum of two separate placements in addition to the period of academic study required for the full-time award. This optional placement year is undertaken after Level 5 and before Level 6 and meets the SEEC criteria for Level 6.

Programme Structure
The programme structure and progression information below (Table 1a and 1b) is provided for the Honours award. Any interim awards are identified in Table 1b. The Unit/Programme Learning Outcomes are developed and assessed through the constituent modules, as identified within the Unit/Programme Specifications listed in Section B, above.

Table 1a Outline Programme Structure

Mode of study Full-time
Students on a full-time mode of study must normally take the equivalent of eight 15 credit modules per year with the equivalent of four 15 credit modules undertaken per semester.

In addition, at level 5 students must normally study the module 5HUM1064 Graduate Skills, unless they take 5HUM1175 Employability Skills. Failure in this module will not prevent progression, provided the normal progression rules had been met.

Mode of study Part-time
Students on a part-time mode of study are allowed to take up to five 15 credit modules per year and most normally choose to study between 2 and 5 modules per year, with modules being taken in each semester. Varying rates of study are possible: students can increase or decrease their rate of study year by year or semester by semester in response to their changing circumstances. Students are entitled to take a break from study for a semester or even a year if their circumstances require it.

Students can apply to transfer to a full-time rate of study; this should be arranged before the beginning of the academic year.

Entry point Semester A

Level 4
At Level 4 students take 120 credits of the following subjects. Details of the modules are given in the individual Subject Programme Specifications:

Progression to level 6 requires a minimum of 60 credits, including 30 credits in each Subject.

Sandwich Year and Year Abroad

Students may optionally undertake a placement year or a year abroad studying at a foreign University after successfully completing their level 5 studies at honours level. The placement year and year abroad offer an additional optional year (0 credited) which increases the length of the Honours degree award to a four year full-time degree. Successful completion of the placement year or year abroad is reflected in the degree title.

Sandwich Year

The placement year comprises an agreed period of 36 weeks (including employers and statutory holidays) of work based learning a maximum of two institutions or companies which has agreed to those terms and conditions regarded as essential by the University of Hertfordshire. Students will be supervised according to university regulations. The learning experience will be assessed with assessments set by the Employability Tutor to enable students to demonstrate both their knowledge of the industry, their skills development and their professional attributes.

Placements are advertised through the Career and Placements Office and have included areas such as marketing, journalism, PR, management and Policy Units. Students may also source their own placement, but it must be subsequently approved by the School in terms of health and safety, equality legislation and supervisory guidelines before a student can take it up.

All students are eligible to proceed to a placement year provided they have achieved 120 credits at Level 4 and 90 credits at Level 5 and have completed the appropriate placement induction and documentation. Success in the placement will be recognised in the title of the award but does not carry additional credit towards the Honours programme.

Year Abroad

The year abroad comprises an agreed programme of study in the third year of a partner institution in Europe (other than the UK), North or South America, Australia or Singapore with which the University of Hertfordshire has an institutional agreement.

A student’s programme of study will be negotiated and approved by the Dean of School (or nominee) in consultation with appropriate others and the host University. The programme provided by the host institution may comprise taught modules, a research project, field studies, or a mixture of these components. The programme of study will require a minimum of 25% of studies to be undertaken in aspects of culture of the placement country. Prior to the commencement of the year abroad, the student and Study Abroad Tutors from UH and the host institution will agree a learning contract. The learning contract will specify the assessment requirements to be met for successful completion of the programme of study. A Module Board of Examiners will consider the results for the year abroad during the first semester of the following academic year. All assessments must be completed by the end of the year abroad, and no subsequent referrals will be permitted. Students who have varied their programme of study without agreement from UH or have failed to meet the requirements of the learning contract will not have their year abroad studies included in the degree title.

A student must confirm the intention to study abroad during the first ten weeks of study at Level 5. This will enable a place to be negotiated at a host institution and the study programme and learning contract to be arranged and agreed. Only a limited number of places exist. These will be awarded on the basis of the suitability of students and guided by choice on the most appropriate programme and host institution.

To be eligible to proceed to a year abroad, a student must, after the Semester B Module Boards of Examiners, have achieved at least 210 credits overall, including at least 90 credits at Level 5. Success in the year abroad will be recognised in the title of the award but does not carry additional credit towards the Honours programme.

Combined Placement and Study Abroad Year

Students who are eligible for the Year Abroad or Placement Year will also be eligible for the combined Placement and Study Abroad Year. This will involve a semester spent in a partner university abroad that is willing to provide a study abroad semester, combined with an appropriate placement of a minimum of 12 weeks which can be taken either abroad or in the UK.
