Associate Dean of School (Academic Quality Assurance):
Marjolein Groefsema

Signature

A programme specification is a collection of key information about a programme of study (or course). It identifies the aims and learning outcomes of the programme, lists the modules that make up each stage (or year) of the programme, and the teaching, learning and assessment methods used by teaching staff. It also describes the structure of the programme, its progression requirements and any programme-specific regulations. This information is therefore useful to potential students to help them choose the right programme of study, to current students on the programme, and to staff teaching and administering the programme.

Summary of amendments to the programme:

Section	Amendment
1	Removed Humanities Programme and titles from the list of module titles
1	UCAS codes amended
1 + F	Amended Mass Communications programme to the new programme name: Media Programme
C	Assessment Strategy updated
D + Table 2	New code for Genre, Style and Stars : 4HUM2001
D	The number of weeks of full-time equivalent placement activity required for a Sandwich award updated to at least 30 weeks (UPR AS11, 2.4.1)

If you have any queries regarding the changes please email AQO@herts.ac.uk

Programme Specification (Undergraduate) Film

This programme specification (PS) is designed for prospective students, enrolled students, academic staff and potential employers. It provides a concise summary of the main features of the programme and the intended learning outcomes that a typical student might reasonably be expected to achieve and demonstrate if he/she takes full advantage of the learning opportunities that are provided. More detailed information on the teaching, learning and assessment methods, learning outcomes and content for each module can be found in Definitive Module Documents (DMDs) and Module Guides.

A. Programme Rationale

The rationale for this provision is to provide students with a structured sequence of modules through which they can develop their knowledge and understanding of topics and methodologies within Film as a minor within the framework of the different programmes on which it is offered.

The provision is designed to recruit students who have some or no previous experience of Film and to complement, support and enhance students' studies in their major subjects.

Graduates are equipped for a variety of careers including those traditionally open to honours graduates in Communications and related disciplines, e.g. teaching, the civil service, local government, journalism, marketing and communications, media-related industries. The Film provision also prepares students for further study at Postgraduate Level.

B. Educational Aims of the Programme

The programme has been devised in accordance with the University's graduate attributes of programmes of study as set out in UPR TL03.

Additionally this programme aims to:

- Provide students (including those who are new to the subject) with the opportunity to study a stimulating, challenging and enjoyable, but also balanced, range of topics and materials from different historical and theoretical periods, and a variety of approaches to studying Film;
- Equip students with a range of intellectual and subject-specific skills;
- Equip students with a range of transferable skills.

C. Intended Learning Outcomes

The programme provides opportunities for students to develop and demonstrate knowledge and understanding, skills and other attributes in the following areas. The programme outcomes are referenced to the QAA benchmark statements for Communication, Media, Film and Cultural Studies (2019) and the Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies (2014) and relate to the typical student. Additionally, the SEEC Credit Level Descriptors for Further and Higher Education (2016) have been used as a guiding framework for curriculum design.

A1 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of a range of concepts and principles, theoretical and technical approaches to the film text.	Acquisition of knowledge and understanding is through a combination of lectures, seminars, tutorials, workshops, film screenings and guided learning.	Knowledge and understanding are assessed through assessment that is both formative and summative. All learning outcomes in a module are assessed and the mode of assessment is specified for each outcome. Testing of knowledge and understanding of A1, A2 and A3, A4, and A7 is through a combination of in-course assessments in the form of essay assignments, critical analysis of film sequences, and seminar presentations.
A2 Demonstrate knowledge and understanding of the broad cultural, stylistic ideological and historical elements and their influence on a range of international film texts.	Throughout, the learner is encouraged to undertake independent study both to supplement and consolidate what is being taught/learned and to broaden their individual knowledge and understanding of the subject.

of creative ideas, based upon documented research strategies.

C5. Demonstrate work that meets the requirements of professionalism in film and media practice.

(Powerpoint, Prezi, desktop publishing to provide handouts).

Skills C1, C2, C3, C4 and C5 are developed in both the written and presentation work, which all modules require, and in seminars. Students receive feedback on their ability to communicate their ideas effectively and to reference appropriately. Effective oral communication is developed in seminar and seminar group work.

Skill C5 is developed primarily in workshops and seminar work, but students are encouraged to work alongside others in group work and seminar discussions and presentations in the same professional manner.

These skills are developed in the written work, which all modules require. For coursework, students are assessed not only on their knowledge and understanding but also on their ability to communicate their ideas effectively, to engage with different viewpoints, to reference appropriately and to present work using recognised scholarly conventions.

All modules require student to access the relevant StudyNet sites for module information and seminar tasks; several modules expect student participation in online discussion. It is expected that all written assignments will be word-processed.

Skill C5 is formally assessed at Level 5 in the Film Production module.

D. Programme Structures, Features, Levels, Modules, and Credits

The programme is offered in full-time (3 years) and part-time (5 years), and leads to the award of a BA Degree with Honours.

Entry is normally at Level 4 (with suitable A level or equivalent qualifications) but is possible at Level 5 and Level 6 with suitable accredited prior learning. Entry onto the Humanities Programme is not open anymore for students at Level 4 but is still possible at Level 5 and Level 6 with suitable qualifications, e.g. a relevant foundation degree. Intake is normally in Semester A.

Work-Based Learning, including Sandwich Programmes

A sandwich award requires the successful completion of at least 30 weeks full-time equivalent placement activity from a maximum of two separate approved placements, neither of which will be normally less than 12 weeks in duration, in order for the award to be made. This is in addition to the period of academic study required for the full-time award. This optional placement year is undertaken after Level 5 and before Level 6 and meets the SEEC criteria for Level 6.

Erasmus Exchange programme

Erasmus students are permitted to study Film modules at all levels.

Programme Structure

The programme structure and progression information below (Table 1a and 1b) is provided for the Honours award. Any interim awards are identified in Table 1b. The Programme Learning Outcomes detailed above are developed and assessed through the constituent modules. Table 2 identifies where each learning outcome is assessed.

Table 1a Outline Programme Structure

Mode of study Full-time, part-time

Students on a part-time mode of study are allowed to take up to five 15 credit modules per year and most normally choose to study between 2 and 5 modules per year, with modules being taken in each semester. Varying rates of study are possible: students can increase or decrease their rate of study year by year or semester by semester in response to their changing circumstances. Students are entitled to take a break from study for a semester or even a year if their circumstances require it.

Students can apply to transfer to a full-time rate of study; this should be arranged at the beginning of the academic year.
