Global Day of Parents 2018

The Impact of Good Parents on Children and Society: The Many Benefits of Nurturing Children’s Integrity in the Home

Friday, June 1 | 11:00am - 1:00pm | United Nations, Conference Room 1

Sponsored by the Permanent Observer of the Holy See to the United Nations and the Universal Peace Federation International

Remarks

H. E. Archbishop Bernardoito Auza, Permanent Observer of the Holy See
Tageldin Hamad, Vice-President, Universal Peace Federation International

Presentations

Shelly Locke, Attachment Specialist, Founding CEO, The Power of Motherhood
“Parent-Child Attachment: Mothers’ Part in Shaping the Heart of the Future”

Pat Fagan, Ph.D., Marriage and Religion Research Institute (MARRI)
“Unique Importance of Fatherhood”

Thomas Lickona, Ph.D., State University of New York, Cortland
“Parenting for Character Development: What Works?”

Melissa Moschella, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Medical Ethics, Columbia University
“To Whom do Children Belong?: A Defense of Parental Rights”

Rima Salah, Ph.D., Assistant Clinical Professor in the Child Study Center, Yale School of Medicine
“Parents’ Transformative Role: Raising Children of Peace in Situations of Conflict and Displacement”

Moderator: Lynn Walsh, Director, Office of the Family, Universal Peace Federation International

Register by May 29 at: holyseemission.org/rsvp1June2018