Park Hill Neighbourhood Guide

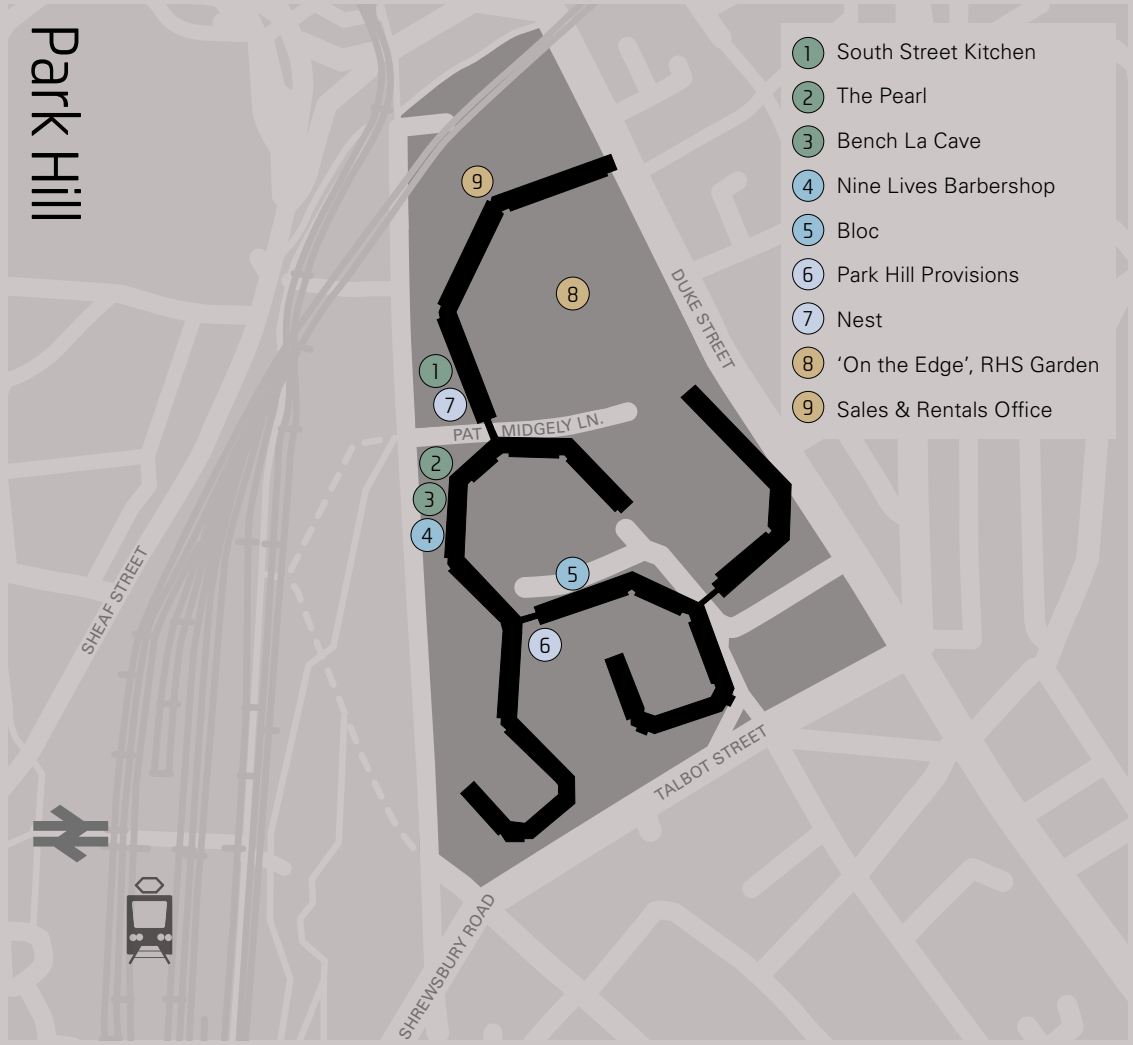

November 2026

Meet the Neighbours

The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker – community has always been at the heart of life at Park Hill.

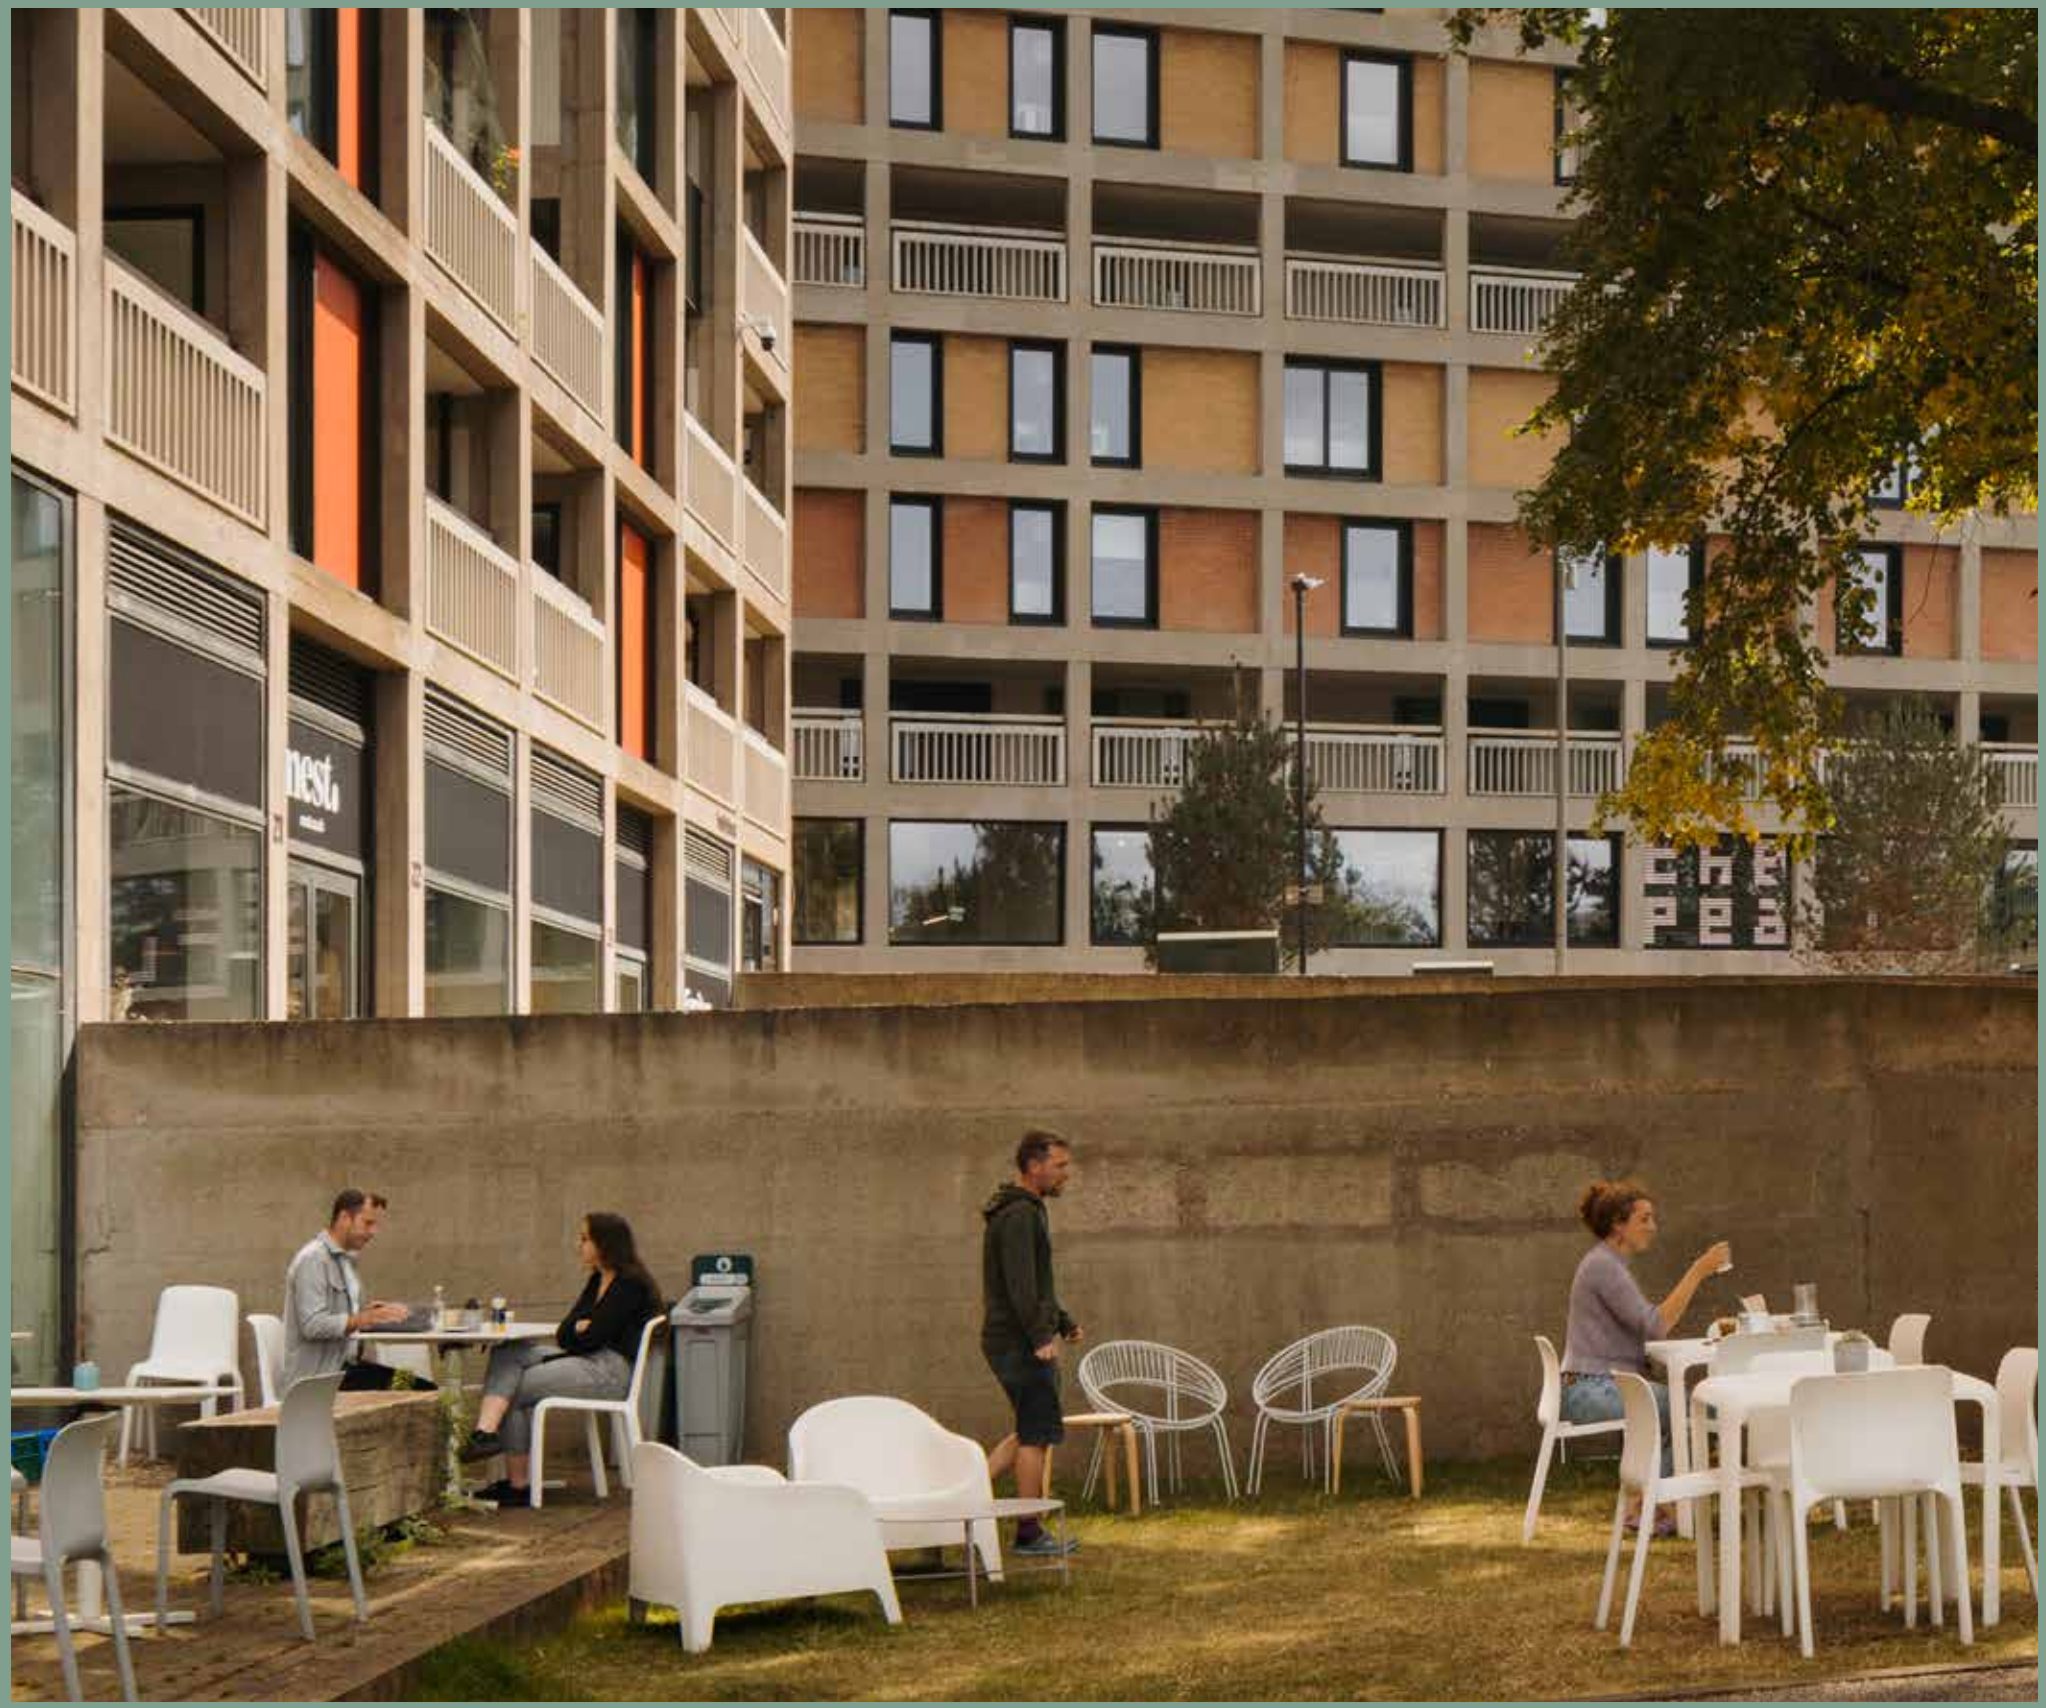

Today, the community is thriving with a growing collection of independent businesses bringing new life to the Brutalist icon.

Whether you're grabbing a coffee, picking up the essentials, treating yourself or meeting friends for a drink, it's all happening right on your doorstep.

Come and Meet the Neighbours...

Eat & Drink

1 South Street Kitchen

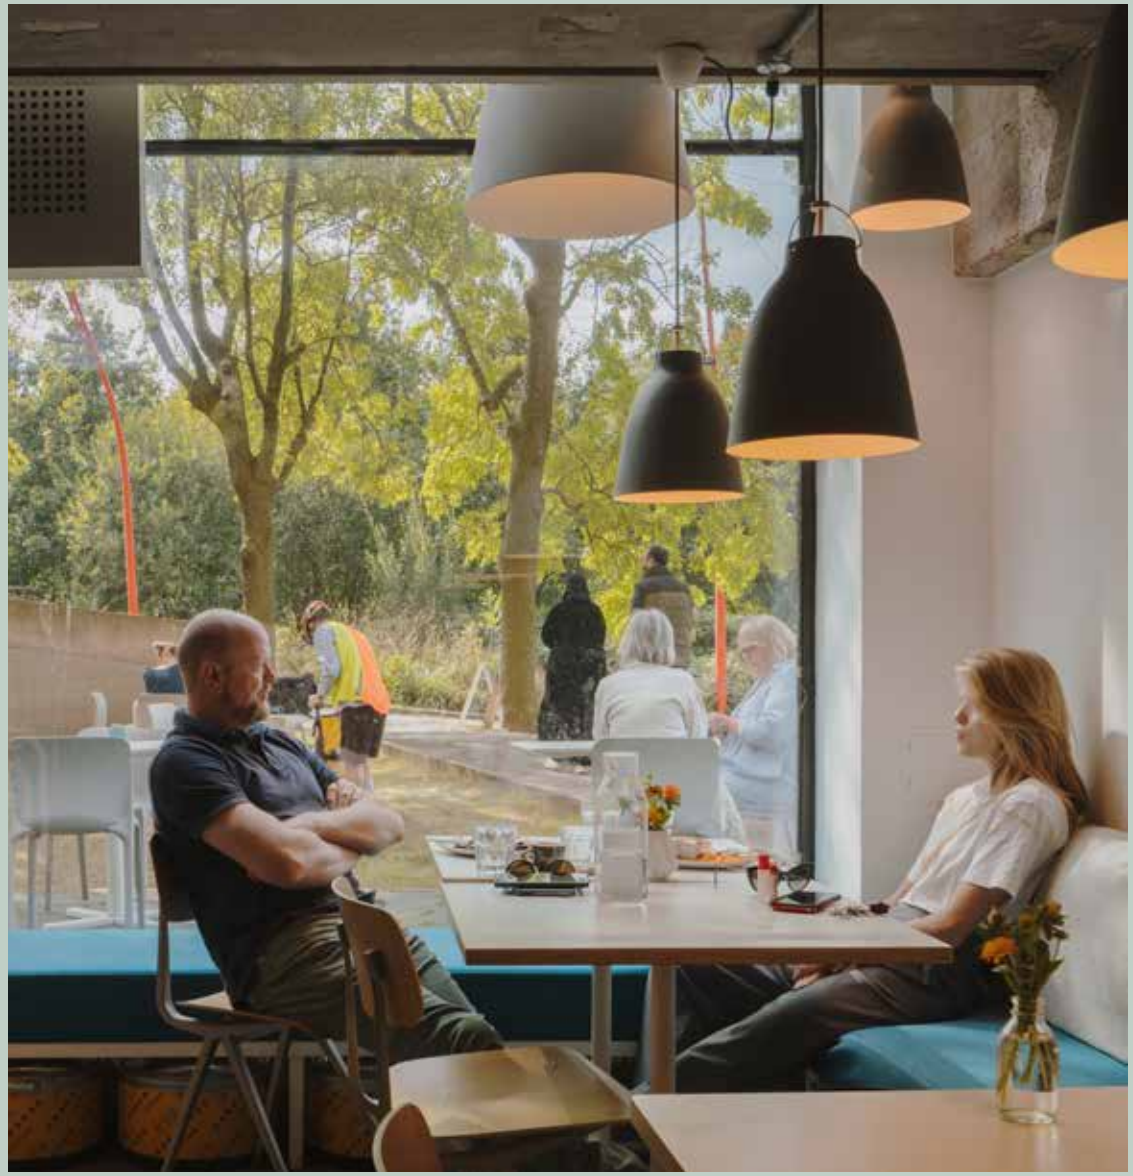

For speciality coffee and Middle Eastern-inspired vegan and vegetarian dishes, look no further than South Street Kitchen.

A firm favourite with residents and visitors alike, this independent café is a spot for every part of the day.

Grab a coffee to enjoy along the Streets in the Sky, settle in for a leisurely lunch, or stop by for dinner and drinks as the city lights come on across the Sheffield skyline.

A spot for every part of the day.

2 The Pearl

Bringing people together over seasonal cocktails, craft beer, natural wine and bar food.

The Pearl's distinctive pink mid-century-inspired interiors sit in striking contrast to Park Hill's brutalist backdrop, making it one of Sheffield's most recognisable spaces to eat, drink and unwind.

They've bagged a number of awards for their carefully curated menus - and if you're up for something a bit more energetic, there's a run club every Tuesday, finished off with a free drink.

3 Bench La Cave

From the team behind The Pearl, Bench La Cave brings something a little different to the neighbourhood.

Bakery by day and wine bar by night, it's the place to pick up freshly baked loaves, browse the bottle shop or settle in for a glass of something good.

Open Thursday to Saturday, you can expect carefully selected wines, from sparkling and rosé to reds, whites and non-alcoholic options, alongside brunch, sharing platters, and small plates. Whether you're popping in for your morning bread or making an evening of it, there's plenty to enjoy.

Look & feel good

4 Bloc

From hair appointments to a little self-care, Bloc brings a whole host of beauty services right to your doorstep.

This contemporary salon caters for all hair types, with everything from cuts, colour and blow-dries to braiding.

You'll also find everything from brows, lashes and nails to facials, microneedling and semi-permanent make-up, making it easy to fit a little pampering into everyday life without having to venture far from home.

5 Nine Lives Barbershop

A neighbourhood isn't complete without a good local barber, and Nine Lives is highly rated by residents and visitors alike.

A good spot for a fresh cut, beard trim or a bit of grooming, this is a seriously cool space that feels right at home at Park Hill.

Shop & Stock up

6 Park Hill Provisions

For those everyday essentials and last-minute needs, Park Hill Provisions has you covered.

Tucked on the ground floor of Béton House, this handy neighbourhood shop is open from early morning until late, making it easy to pop in whenever you need something.

From your morning pint of milk and lunchtime snacks to sweet treats, drinks and something for dinner, it's all just a few steps from your front door.

7 Nest

Once one of Park Hill's four original pubs, this space has found a new lease of life as Nest's design destination.

A beautifully curated showroom of contemporary furniture, lighting, homeware and gifts, it's packed with inspiration for making your house feel like home.

It's also the perfect place to see how different pieces work alongside Park Hill's distinctive architecture and interiors. With a knowledgeable, friendly team on hand, a free interior design service and a calendar of events to explore, there's plenty of reason to pop in, even if you're just browsing.

8 'On the Edge' RHS Garden

A little bit different from your usual neighbourhood spot, but one that's definitely worth a visit.

Designed by award-winning garden designer Sarah Eberle for the 2026 RHS Chelsea Flower Show, 'On the Edge' picked up both a Gold Medal and Garden of the Year before finding its permanent home right here at Park Hill.

Celebrating Sheffield's own pioneering countryside campaigner Ethel Haythornthwaite, the garden explores the relationship between urban life and the natural world. At its centre sits a striking sculpture of Gaia, the Greek Earth goddess, carved from fallen sequoia trees. A little piece of Chelsea, now a permanent part of the Park Hill landscape.
