

Bunker Trader

Context

Minerva is looking to further strengthen our European based Bunkering team and have an exciting opportunity for a Greek speaking Bunker Trader to join our team based in Las Palmas, Spain.

Job description

The successful candidate will support the current bunkering team with developing new and existing clients, liaise with other Minerva offices globally and work closely with suppliers in order to improve the supply chain. Key responsibilities include the running of own portfolio consisting of accounts based in Greece as well as perform regular market analysis to improve performance. As part of Minerva's global bunkering team, the role will provide high levels of responsibility and great possibilities for professional and personal advancement in an exciting and challenging work environment

Skills and competencies

- Fluent written and oral Greek and English language skills required
- French language skills are desirable
- Shipping/Finance background desired
- Bachelor's degree
- A minimum of 3-5 Years' experience as an international Bunker Trader
- Some experience in Greek trading/shipping community
- Excellent communication skills
- Dynamic, creative and Pro-active Team player
- Ability to negotiate
- Good attention to details
- Great sales person
- Willingness to travel/comfortable with global mobility

Minerva, fully owned by Mercuria Group (one of the world's largest independent energy and commodity groups) is a key player in the bunkering business which is showing a strong and consistent growth. Thanks to its Financial strength, Risk Management capabilities well above industry standard, synergies with Mercuria Cargo desks and Banking Linkages the Company is developing a strategic position in the Bunker industry in conjunction with parent Company Mercuria.

Please mark your application "Bunker Trader" and send it to Ida Sharman at isharman@mercuria.com