

With the novelty of the home office wearing very thin and for those looking for a change in scenery, a day in a hotel is becoming a popular option. The Resident has evolved and when allowed due to Government restrictions, it has been offering Working from Hotel packages as new normal.

Reasons why The Resident's rooms make good working environment:

- The Resident's super sleek and quiet rooms provide a tranquil location with no clutter, background distractions or noise, ideal for guests who have an important pitch, back-to-back zoom calls, or simply just a desire for a change of pace.
- Guests can request groceries of their choice prior to arriving at the hotel, with The Resident team members organising at cost price, sanitising and delivering items to bedrooms.
- The guestrooms all have mini-kitchens, complete with a microwave, sink with BRITA filter tap, kettle, crockery, cutlery, glassware, Nespresso coffee machine and complimentary Nespresso capsules and Fairtrade teas.
- Guests are also welcome to order takeaways to be delivered to the hotel, which can be delivered to the door of the guestroom by a socially distanced member of the team.

If you'd be interested in spending a day working from Soho or Covent Garden, do let us know and we'd be happy to rearrange a stay in 2021.
