

The Telegraph

13 of London's hottest hotel openings that you need to know about

The Stratford, Stratford

There's some serious design pedigree behind this new hotel in Stratford: the developer, the Manhattan Loft Corporation, is credited with bringing the concept of loft living to London back in the early Nineties, and more recently spearheaded the phoenix-like rebirth of the St Pancras Renaissance Hotel. The Stratford will be an altogether different sort of hotel, with 150 rooms occupying the first seven floors of a 42-storey mixed-use development overlooking the Olympic Park. Features to get excited about include a swimming pool, a spa and a seventh-floor sky garden.

Opened July 2019; thestratford.com

• The best restaurants in East London