Hi there.....

I'm Ashling, a Wexford native married to a pretty amazing Devon boy! That's us with our furry one, Scruffy, charging on Curracloe beach on our wedding day. I'm a hopeless romantic with an eye for detail, so specialising in weddings was a natural choice for me! I love weddings and everything they entail – those intimate newly-wed blissful moments, all of the little details which make each wedding unique, and not to mention the gorgeous dresses and flowers. I read more wedding blogs than the most obsessive bride!

I love using natural light to create authentic, honest and romantic photographs. My approach to wedding photography is to keep it natural, honest and light. I like to work quietly, capturing the raw and pure emotions of the day. However, for my couple portraits, I draw on my knowledge of composition and light, and offer gentle guidance to help make you and your photographs their most beautiful. My style and approach to your wedding allows you to relax and thoroughly enjoy your day, whilst still capturing incredible memories for you to cherish. As well as photographing your day I'm here to help guide you through the process, and am always there to offer advice when it is wanted.

I cater for brides and grooms who appreciate photography and want the best wedding photography experience possible. Weddings that I particularly love to photograph are light, bright and pretty weddings but, above all, couples who are totally in love.

When I'm not photographing weddings, I can be found snuggled at home with my husband and our puppy, enjoying a good film. That is unless we are on a hike in the beautiful countryside. Or barbecuing with our friends in the sunshine. Or catching up with family while our dogs (all rescues and now very spoilt!) race around the beach. I am one lucky cookie!

If you have any questions at all do be sure to get in touch. I'd love to hear from you.

Love Ashling x

I love to photograph genuine emotion, with natural light where possible rather than over-staged shots. I have a simple, relaxed approach and prefer to keep things as informal as possible. I capture the love, laughter, tears and all the emotion in between.

I'd love to meet up for a cuppa and a chat (if you're not based locally we can always skype) to hear all about your day and get to know you both more.
