5 July 2018

Shakespeare comes to the Hill of Tarvit Mansion

This July, The Three Inch Fools will visit the National Trust for Scotland's Hill of Tarvit Mansion with an outdoor performance of a Midsummer Night's Dream.

The Three Inch Fools will perform their unique adaptation of a Shakespeare's popular comedy A Midsummer Night's Dream in the gardens at the Hill of Tarvit Mansion on 20 July. This setting provides an excellent backdrop for a tale of runaway lovers, beguiling potions and a rather unfortunate individual who gets turned into a donkey!

Geraldine Graf Hospitality & Events Manager, Hill of Tarvit Mansion said, "We look forward to welcoming fans of Shakespeare who will be able to experience this unique outdoor performance of one of the playwright's best loved comedies in our gardens, one of 38 gardens and designed landscapes that the National Trust for Scotland cares for and protects."

The Three Inch Fools are a motley troupe of five actors, with all manner of musical instruments, and promise to present a highly imaginative and vibrantly musical take on Shakespeare's a Midsummer Night's Dream.

Attendees are advised to dress warmly and bring a picnic and rug or low seating.

The café at the Hill of Tarvit will be from 5pm to 7pm for pre-theatre refreshments and take away picnics to enjoy during the performance.
