

NATIONAL TRUST FOR SCOTLAND MEDIA RELEASE

6 December 2018

Festive fun at Drum

The National Trust for Scotland's Drum Castle is gearing up for the festivities with its Christmas Festival, a new take on its beloved Holly Fest.

On Saturday 8 and Sunday 9 December, Drum Castle will be transformed for the festive season. Visitors can browse the Exclusively Highlands unique Christmas Market situated throughout the entire castle. Exclusively Highlands organise and host a series of Artisan Art, Craft and Food Events in beautiful and historic surroundings across Scotland and the team at Drum Castle are delighted to welcome them at their property in the second weekend of December. Visitors can sample the wonderful 'German inspired' courtyard food, and try the sleigh-driver-friendly mulled wine. There's also an opportunity to visit the Secret Drum Fairy Hideaway!

Aidan McAleese Visitor Services Supervisor (Functions & Events) Drum Castle said: "We're looking forward to our visitors getting into the festive spirit during our Christmas Festival. It promises to be a fabulous weekend of fun for all the family."
